A soap made from cheap and inferior materials, with a view to selling at the lowest possible price, must OF NECESSITY be the most expensive to use, because it does not contain either of the elements of value, and its only apparent merit, namely, that the largest amount can be sold for the least money, is UNREAL, from the fact that the amount of soap in the combination is always small, and that little destroyed by adulterations. BEACH'S PLUCK.

Jake Gaudaur Beaten After a Tremendous Struggle.

The Australian Remains Champion of the World.

The Most Exciting Boat Race Seen in Recent Years.

Beach the Winner by Two and a Half Boat Lengths—Full Description of the Contest—Beach's Indomitable Pluck Enables Him to Snatch a Victory from Our "Jake"—The Australian Stops Twice from Sheer Exhaustion—How the News was Received in St. Louis—The Post-Dispatch the Only Source of Reliable Information.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, September 18.—After what admittedly was one of the most exciting races witnessed during many years on the Thames, BEACH REMAINS THE CHAMPION SCULLER OF THE WORLD.

The weather was most favorable; the sun, fast sinking in the unclouded sky, shone brightly throughout, tempering what would otherwise have been a bitter east wind.

Beach, Champion of the World.

The water, too, was fairly calm. Long before the contest was timed to begin Putney Bridge, beneath which the start was made, was thronged with spectators, and the banks of the river were lined with an eager multitude struggling to get a glimpse of the competitors. About a quarter to 5 the enthusiastic huzzahs from the crowds assembled on the shore, the bridge, and on the boats told that the American and Australian had embarked on the, to them, all-important struggle.

BEACH WON THE TOSS

and chose the Surrey side of the river. The gun was fired at five minutes to 5, when the betting on Beach was 5 to 1. Beach got away at thirty-nine strokes to the minute, Gaudaur thirty-seven. The Australian had the best of the start, undoubtedly, though for a long time Gaudaur held him. Half a mile away both men seemed to be getting fagged.

Gaudaur, Champion of America.

Beach, who was then leading a half length or more, put on a spurt. By the time Hammersmith Bridge, a mile and a half from Putney, was reached, he was leading by two lengths. Near the torpedo works, half a mile above Hammersmith, Gaudaur increased his speed. To the amazement of everybody Beach suddenly stopped for some seconds.

GAUDAUR

made the best of his advantage and for a good distance the two men sculled pluckily, though both were considerably exhausted. Then Beach stopped again apparently catching a crab. Gaudaur got quite a length ahead, and the race seemed then in Gaudaur's hands when with indomitable resolution Beach pulled away once more. Near the winning post he gradually crept ahead, and when the gun announced the end of the race Beach had two and a half boat lengths between himself and Gaudaur. Both immediately swung and amid deafening applause

GRIPPED EACH OTHER'S HAND.

Nothing could surpass the pluck with which Beach renewed his efforts after two complete break-downs. No praise, on the other hand, is too high for the manner in which Gaudaur worked. He maintained a vigorous clean steady stroke throughout. Both he and Beach will probably admit they never worked harder or with more changing fortunes. Very few Americans were present as St. John says St. Louis is especially a long way off.

BEACH'S RECORD.

William Beach hails from Dapto, Australia, weighs about 165 pounds, and is the most recent addition to the ranks of scullers who have attained prominence in Australia. He was a contestant in several regatta races in heavy boats prior to last year, and on December 28, [illegible], rowed his first match of importance. It was in light skiffs, for $500 a side, with T. Clifford, and was rowed over the regular championship course on the Parramatta River at Sydney, N. S. W., 3 miles [illegible] yards, straightaway. Beach winning in 25 min. 28 sec. His next appearance was in the open scullers' race for the Punch Trophy, same course, in which he finished first, with E. A. Trickett, ex-champion, second, the winner's time being the fastest in which the course had up to that time been rowed. This was his first race in a shell, and it led to a match between him and Trickett, in shells, for $500 a side, which was decided on the same river July 28, 1883, Beach suffering defeat, in 21 min. 15 sec.

Attributing his defeat to the inferiority of his boat, the friends of Beach rematched him against his conqueror for $1,000 a side. The race came off August 18, following, and this time Trickett was beaten in 22 minutes 50½ seconds. The defeated man sought another match, which was accorded him, and they rowed again for a like amount on the same water, August 27, Beach winning the "rubber" with comparative ease in 20 minutes 44 seconds, eclipsing all previous times over that course. They met again in the open scullers' race at the Balmain regatta, November 9, when Trickett won first prize, Beach finishing second.

On December 6 and 8, following, the prize of $750 offered by James Hunt, added to a sweepstakes of $100 each, was rowed for in a regatta on the Parramatta course, Beach capturing first place, in 20 minutes, 58 seconds, with Trickett second, by six lengths. In the trial heats, Trickett had beaten D. McDonald, and Beach won from Michael Rush, ex-champion.

Beach and Trickett met again in the champion race at the Anniversary regatta, January 26, 1884, but they fouled, and were ordered to row over for first prize. This they did on February 1 over the Two Islands course, when Trickett, who was more at home in the rough water encountered, came off victor by four lengths. Beach subsequently made a proposition for a match race, which was accepted, and he and Trickett rowed for $1,000 a side and the championship of Australia on the Parramatta River course April 12. Beach, who was the favorite at 2 to 1, won easily by three lengths in 23 minutes 19 seconds.

His race with Hanlan, in which he took from the Canadian the championship of the world, is still fresh in the minds of the public. Hanlan challenged him immediately after the race, and Beach defeated him on the same course.

GAUDAUR.

Prior to his removal to St. Louis Gaudaur did did nothing over-brilliant in the matter of record making. The races in which he rowed up to that time were unimportant. The first race out of the ordinary in which he showed uncommon ability was at Pullman in the early summer of 1883, when he rowed second to Teemer. In the Boston regatta of July 4 he won the single scull race, and in the working boat race making the fastest time on record on the river up to that time, namely, 21:50. The next race was rowed at Conneaut Lake, in Pennsylvania, July 15, 1884, when he rowed second to Teemer with Hamm, third. On September 28, at Creve Cœur Lake, he defeated Hosmer in a match race for a stake of $1,000, making the three miles in 20:15. On October 26, 1884, he rowed a dead heat with Teemer for $1,000. Teemer handicapped five seconds. The tie was rowed off on November 2, under the same conditions, and Gaudaur won. In the New Orleans regatta which took place on May 25-29, at New Orleans, he rowed second to Teemer, the McKeesport man making the fastest time on record, 20:11½. Gaudaur's time was 20:4. At the same regatta he won the double race with Hosmer against Parker and McKay, and Teemer and Patterson. At the Boston regatta, in the same year, he won the single scull over Hamm and Hosmer, making the course in 20:30, thus reducing his own fastest time on the Charles River. This is now the record of that river, and has not since been touched. He also won the double scull with Hosmer, defeating McKay and Hamm. In the same event he rowed stroke in the four-oared race, winning that in 27:55. On June 13, 1885, at Moline, he won the single, three miles, two turns, against McKay, Lee, Hosmer and Parker, and the double with Hosmer against other pairs. On July 18 and 20 at Pittsburg he defeated Teemer, Ten Eyck, Hamm and others in 19:32 in the single. He also won the double with Hosmer. On August 20, '85, he was beaten in a double with Hosmer against Courtney and Conley, match race. September 20 he beat Harry Parker, giving the latter five seconds' start, at Creve Cœur, and on October 30, on the same course, defeated Hamm in a purse of $500, the time being 20:10. In 1886 he defeated Teemer on June 12 at Pullman for $2,000 and the American championship. Time 20:20. On June 26, at White Bear Lake he reduced the record to 19:54 and now holds the world's fastest time. At Winnipeg July 1, 2 and 3 he defeated Hamm and Teemer. His last appearance was in the early part of the present month at Oconomowoc when he gave an exhibition with Hamm.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

The Great Sculling Match for the World's Championship.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, September 18.—The boat race on the Thames to-day between William Beach of Australia and Jacob Gaudaur of St. Louis was won by Beach. The match was for £1,000 and the championship of the world.

Enormous crowds of people lined the banks of the river. The start was made at 4:56, the men getting away well together. Beach immediately got a slight lead, and at the Star and Garter, was a third of a length ahead, pulling thirty-seven strokes a minute to Gaudaur's thirty-five. At the Creek, Gaudaur led by a third of a length. Beach spurted at the Half Mile Tree. He led by half a length at the Craven Cottage steps, and was the same distance ahead at the Crab Tree. At Hammersmith Beach was three lengths in front. His time to Hammersmith was 8:58, Gaudaur covering the distance in 9:03. At Biffen's Gaudaur began to decrease his opponent's lead, and at Chiswick was only half a length behind. By the time Thornycroft was reached Gaudaur was half a length in front of Beach, and at the Pumping Station he was still slightly in the lead. Beach then stopped rowing and Gaudaur obtained a lead of two lengths. At Barnes' bridge Beach again spurted and going to the front won by four lengths. Beach's time was 18 minutes 56 seconds. It was a fearfully hard race throughout. The weather was clear and cold with the wind from the northeast. The tide was good. Before the start the betting was 5 to 1 in favor of Beach.

THE NEWS IN ST. LOUIS.

Excitement Over the Result of the Race—The Betting.

The first information of the result of the Thames boat race received in the city came over the POST-DISPATCH special wire, and was to the effect that Beach had won. A confirmatory dispatch was received later. But later a bogus telegram was received on 'Change telling the opposite story. When it was announced in the pit that Gaudaur had beaten Beach the traders stopped business and howled. The cheering was long and loud. Over in the flour corner they heard the row, and every flour-sprinkled sampler rushed into the arena and cheered, too, when they heard the news.

Groans and hisses greeted the later information that Beach had left the St. Louisan behind. The variations of information created excitement later, and bets were freely offered on the truth of the first information.

The Republican posted a bulletin from the information obtained on 'Change, "Gaudaur wins by six lengths." After noon that paper received the correct information and pulled down the bulletin. At 1:10 this afternoon a special telegram to the Republican from New York was received saying no information from the race had been received. At Roche's a dispatch was received from the New York Stock Exchange saying Beach had won the race.

The Globe-Democrat first had a bulletin that Gaudaur had won, but about 1 o'clock pulled it down and changed the news.

As nearly every one interested in sporting matters had more or less money on the event, and many had large sums, the excitement over the result grew to fever heat and the conflicting rumors only intensified it. Every source of information was eagerly sought. The final announcement of Beach's victory was hailed with general regret.

In St. Louis Beach was the favorite, but Gaudaur was backed heavily. It is calculated that at least $25,000 changed hands among the sporting fraternity. The odds last night at Wiseman's exchange were $700 to $1,000 against Beach, and about $7,500 was lost and won. Gaudaur was backed by the public more heavily. At Roche's Exchange the odds were $15 to $25 against the Australian, but very little money was laid. A few dollars also swapped pockets on 'Change.

St. John is currently reported to have taken to England with him $50,000 made up by himself and other St. Louisans to lay at the best obtainable odds on the American champion.

AT LAST.

THE NINTH DISTRICT REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE IN SESSION.

The Date of the Primaries and Convention to Be Fixed This Afternoon—Chairman Foerstel Wants a Short Campaign—Glover Squares Himself with the Knights of Labor—Pohlman Expresses Himself—Political Gossip.

The Ninth District Republican Congressional Committee met at 3 o'clock this afternoon to set the time and place of holding the Congressional Convention and the date of the primaries. An attempt is being made by the City Republican Committee to influence the Congressional Committee to hold the primaries in conjunction with the city primaries on the 28th inst., but members of the committee are prejudiced against a long campaign, and it is not at all certain that the City Committee will succeed in carrying its point.

Chairman Foerstel said this morning: "I have been requested by a number of business men, some of whom are likely to be candidates to make the campaign as short as possible. No necessity exists for a long canvass. Business men are very busy at this time of the year and haven't the time to spare to give to politics."

"What action will the committee take this afternoon?"

"Well, I can't say. I myself, am in favor of a short vigorous campaign. There is no dearth of candidates as has been reported. On the contrary I know of half a dozen solid business men, any one of whom would make good candidates, who would like to receive the nomination, and who would put in a great deal of work to secure the election."

On 'Change this morning it was announced by a gentleman in a position to know, that Col. Samuel Simmons, real estate agent, was in the race for the Republican nomination. His friends were active in spreading the news to-day, and preparations are already under way looking to a canvass in his interests.

Pohlman's Little Say.

The statement in yesterday's POST-DISPATCH that the old Pohlman City Committee would meet in a few days excited considerable discussion in Republican ranks. This morning John H. Pohlman was approached upon the subject by a POST-DISPATCH reporter. He said: "The committee can be called together upon petition of any five members. There is no telling what will be done."

"Then the committee has not been dissolved and is still in existence?"

"Oh, yes; it is still a committee. I can't say what will be done, but if these fellows who have been opposing us don't let me alone, by jiminie, I may have to call the committee in self-defense."

"Then the attitude of the committee is still uncertain?"

"Yes. I can't say what will be done. Now, here, I tell you what I am able to say, and that is, if the Republicans carry out their intention of holding the city, Congressional, Senatorial and Representative primaries upon the same day it will create a great deal of confusion and may result in the nomination of a poor ticket, which would not be hard for the Democrats at the polls. You see, every delegate selected will be pledged upon six or seven offices and to an equal number of candidates. A natural consequence would be unlimited trading in the convention and the sacrifice of some of the candidates in the interest of others. Then again, a candidate for Congress in the Ninth District, for instance, doesn't care to interest himself in the selection of delegates who will be equally as anxious to nominate some South St. Louis State Representative, and for that reason will take little interest in the primaries. It is a poor plan to jumble things up in that manner and shows mighty bad generalship."

Glover Explains.

It has been said that the only thing held against Congressman Glover by the Knights of Labor is his action in connection with the Arsenal Band matter last winter. On this subject the following letter is interesting:

MY DEAR SENATOR—My attention has been drawn to a statement, made for political purposes, to the effect that I had induced the War Department to abolish the rule which prohibits the competition of United States musical bands with those governed by private enterprise. As you have made inquiries of me on this subject permit me to say that the above statement is totally untrue. I have not procured the abolition of any rule, nor would I suffer the abolition of such a rule if it were in my power to prevent it. It is true that on one occasion, at the request of the Mayor of the City of St. Louis and a committee on entertainment who were charged with the duty of making the National Medical Convention held in this city a credit to all of our people, I secured special permission that the Arsenal Band should take part in the concert given for the entertainment of the visitors. I have no apologies to make for this act, as I deemed all classes of citizens, without exception, were concerned in having our city make the best possible appearance on such an occasion. But I told the Secretary of War, after the permission was granted, that it was not probable that I should make a similar request of him again, as I favored the rule of non-competition between paid bands of the military service and private musicians, and I thought the variation from that rule, if any, would only be justified upon extraordinary occasions. I have the honor to remain

Yours very respectfully,
JOHN M. GLOVER, M. C.
HON. J. M. KELLY.

St. Louis, September 17, 1886.

Davisson Out.

State Senator George W. Davisson, who has been mentioned as a candidate for the United Labor nomination, denies the report in a card as follows:

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

DEAR SIR—Please say in your issue of to-day that I am not a candidate for Congress in the Ninth District and never have been. I wish you would say that any attempt to use my name for the purpose of knifing the Hon. John M. Glover will be denounced by me at all times, and the parties so using my name will be held to strict account for such action.

GEO. W. DAVISSON,
1313 La Salle street, city.

September 18, 1886.

Mr. Skidmore's Card.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

My attention has just been drawn to an article in the Globe-Democrat publication of the 14th inst. That interview completely misrepresents not only what I said, but my position in regard to the Congressional contest. So far from being opposed to Mr. Glover's election, I am heartily in favor of it, and will do all I can to elect him. My political antecedents and my personal course do not justify, in the slightest degree, any statement or expectation that I will do anything else than support the whole Democratic ticket.

THOS. SKIDMORE.

Gossip.

The Republican City Central Committee met last night and set the date for the city primaries on the 28th inst., between the hours of 3 and 8 in the evening, and the convention on the 30th inst., at Central Turner Hall. The Senatorial Convention will be held on October 1, and the Representatives October 2. The Eighth District Congressional Convention will be held September 30.

The Democratic City Central Committee will meet next Monday evening at Sixth and Chestnut streets. Arrangements for the campaign will be discussed, the question of finances receiving particular attention. Committeeman Tom Wand expresses the opinion that the date of the City Convention will not be set for at least a week yet.

The Finance Sub-Committee of the Republican City Executive Committee, at their meeting last night, took up collections for campaign purposes from prominent Republicans and candidates who were present. The sum of $1,100 was subscribed in a short time.

The disgruntled colored voters will hold a sort of indignation mass-meeting at Eleventh and Morgan streets this evening at 8 o'clock. Messrs. Turner, Tandy, Wilson and other prominent colored Republicans will participate in the proceedings. Milton Turner is a strong Glover man.

Wm. A. Hobbs, candidate for Republican nomination for Recorder of Deeds, has fixed his headquarters with the Republican Central Committee, 208 North Eighth street. William will spend his afternoons there receiving his friends.

A new candidate for the Democratic nomination for Coroner has appeared in the person of Dr. S. H. Fraser.

The Republican City Committee meets again next Monday afternoon.

Jos. Wherry is making a vigorous canvass for Recorder.

THE HEARLD-SULLIVAN MILL.

The Two Heavy-Weights to Spar at Pittsburg To-Night.

PITTSBURG, Pa., September 18.—John L. Sullivan and Frank Hearld arrived here on the early morning trains from the East, and were at once driven to the hotels, the former going to the Central Hotel and Hearld to the Monongahela House. Sullivan was accompanied by Sheedy and the latter by Mallahan and Jones. Arthur Chambers, Joe Coburn, Harry Hill and John McCormick also arrived at the same time. Both men were looking fine and are evidently in prime condition. All arrangements have been completed for the meeting, and, with no interference from the authorities, a stubborn fight is expected.

In an interview, Sullivan said he was in good condition and would strip to-night at 205 pounds. Asked whether the contest would really be a scientific spar for points or a knock-out, he smiled significantly, and said he could not tell how it would be. He has no plans at all for the future, but says he is willing to meet any one, particularly Ryan and Mitchell, provided he is not killed to-night (sarcastically). Speaking of Hearld he said that the latter would need all his strength and science for the battle to-night.

Hearld is also confident. He will weigh in fighting clothes 186 pounds, and is in the pink of condition. He says he will not talk until after his meeting with Sullivan.

There was some gossip on the streets this morning to the effect that should the exhibition develop into something more serious than a contest for points, and necessitate the interference of the police the men would meet at a later hour in some secluded nook and do battle.

The meeting between Sullivan and Hearld will positively take place at the Coliseum to-night. A delegation of ministers called upon the Mayor and Chief of Police of Allegheny this morning and made a request that the license be revoked in the interests of law and order. The authorities informed the ministers that it was to be a sparring contest, and refused to interfere. Sporting men from all sections are in the city and others are arriving on every train.

AN IMPORTANT GATHERING.

The Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in Chicago.

CHICAGO, September 18.—One of the most important, if not the most important conventions ever held by the Protestant Episcopal Church of America will take place at Central Music Hall in this city the 6th of next month. At the coming convention matters will be discussed that will have a direct bearing on the future of the church and all, or nearly all, will give rise to a good deal of animated debate. The convention will consist of two houses, namely: The House of Bishops and House of Deputies. The Upper House will meet in Apollo Hall in the Central Music Hall Building and sit with closed doors. The House of Deputies will sit in Central Music Hall. The House of Deputies will number 412 delegates and will be composed of four clergy and four laymen from each diocese, and one clergyman and one layman from each missionary jurisdiction. The latter have no vote. The bishops are sixty-five in number and will be presided over by the oldest in consecration, the Rt. Rev. Alfred Lee of Delaware.

DIED IN SQUALOR.

A Chicago Rag-Picker and Miser Who Left a Valuable Estate.

CHICAGO, September 18.—Carl Hammel, a rag picker and miser, 55 years old, was found dead last night in a hovel where he had made his home at 531 North Lincoln street. Hammel had not been seen by his neighbors for more than a week, and their attention was attracted to the miser's hut by a foul odor rising therefrom. Suspicion was aroused that he was dead, and information to that effect being conveyed to the West Chicago Avenue Station, the police made an investigation and found Hammel dead on a pile of rags which had evidently served him for a bed. No marks of violence were visible on the body, and it is thought the old man died from heart disease. The house was literally filled with rags and rubbish of all sorts. Among the effects were found deeds for small lots of real estate in various parts of the city, and it is said that the deceased owned property to a large amount.

TO-DAY'S YACHT RACE.

The English Cutter Galatea Takes a Big Lead.

NEWPORT, R. I., September 18, 10:15 a m.—The wind is blowing north by west twenty miles an hour, but is gradually dying out. The day is clear and pleasant, with prospects of a good race. The yachts will start about 11 a. m. The yacht race for the Citizens' Cup, in which the Mayflower, Puritan and Galatea are entered, is the event of to-day in these waters. There are four prizes, one each for schooners, for sloops and cutters of 71 feet and over, for sloops and cutters over 55 and under 71 feet, and for sloops and schooners under 55 feet. The race is sailed under the rules of the New York Yacht Club. The course is triangular and about forty-five miles long, starting from the vicinity of the Brentons Reef Lightship. The following is a list of the competitors: Schooners—Gitana, Montauk, Sachem, Miranda. First-class sloops—Mayflower, Galatea, Puritan. Second-class sloops—Bedouin, Stranger, Thetis. Third-class sloops—Cinderella, Clara, Bertie.

THE COURSE.

The course of to-day's race was changed this morning. From a line drawn between the buoy off Beaver Tail and the flagship anchored to the southward of it, to and around the Hen-and-Chickens Lightship, leaving it on the starboard hand and thence to and around the Pigs' Lightship, leaving it on the starboard and thence to Branton's Reef Lightship, passing to the southward of it and between the lightship and the flag. The wind is blowing strong from the north, and slightly west, and a splendid race is anticipated.

10:30 a. m.—The yachts are at the starting point, ready for the signal. The course is to Block Island.

10:40—The yachts crossed the line in the following order: Clara, Miranda, Galatea, Thetis and Sachem.

10:42—The Mayflower is just crossing the line. The Galatea crossed the line at 10:32:10; Puritan at 10:33:12. The Mayflower is half a mile behind at the start.

THE PURITAN GAINING.

The following has been received by homing pigeons: 11:36 a. m.—The Puritan is gaining. The Galatea is still in the lead. The sea is smooth; wind west and falling.

11:30.—The Mayflower is not gaining on the Galatea. The Sachem is abreast of the Miranda.

NO CHANGE.

12:25 p. m.—No change has taken place in the position of the yachts. The Puritan is farthest to windward, the Mayflower next and the Galatea last.

12:40 p. m.—The Puritan is gaining on the Galatea, but the latter has yet a good lead. The Mayflower does not seem to be gaining.

A LIGHT WIND.

1:10 p. m.—A part of the yachts have turned the stakeboat. A large sloop, which can not be distinguished, is in the lead. The wind is getting very light, and the race can not be finished by daylight unless it freshens.

On the Port Tack.

POINT JUDITH, R. I., September 18—2 P. M.—A sloop white to the water's edge, which is considered the Mayflower, rounded the buoy off Block Island at 1:24 1-2. She went on port tack. The wind seemed to die out and then came southwest. The other boats could not be made out. The Mayflower seemed to be before the wind and a good half hour ahead.

2:15 P. M.—The Mayflower rounded the buoy off Block Island at 1:24. She went on the port tack.

LABOR NEWS.

Stone Contractors Taking a Hand in the Stone-Cutters' Strike.

CHICAGO, September 18.—The cut stone contractors have taken a hand in the trouble between the Stonecutters' Union and the bricklayers and stonemasons. They have taken a stand on the side of the stonecutters, and to put themselves in a position to help out the latter they held a meeting at the Builders' Exchange last evening and formed the Cut Stone Contractors' Association. The meeting was the second one that has been held. A constitution was adopted and officers elected. Representatives from about forty-five firms were present. They decided that all stone work above and including basement water table, whether in coarse or broken ashlar, crossed or rock faced, should be considered cut stone, and stonecutters and not stonemasons employed to do it.

Sheep-Butchers' Strike.

CHICAGO, September 18.—Two hundred sheep-butchers employed in the packing-house at the stock yards have gone out on a strike. The strikers have been receiving 7 cents and they want 10 cents per head. COMPOUNDING A FELONY.

Farrish Ottman, alias Heitman, Held To Answer the Charge.

Farrish Ottman, alias Fabish Heitmann, gave bond to-day to answer to a charge of attempting to compound a felony. On August 20 Ottman swore to information for a warrant charging Isaac Doerisch with the larceny of $50. The latter claimed that Ottman had been endeavoring to compromise the case with him agreeing to drop the prosecution for a consideration. On this statement of the case the Prosecuting Attorney, after examining into the matter, entered a nolle prosequi on August 27 in the case against Doerisch, and the latter then swore to information for a warrant charging Ottman with attempting to compound a felony, and it is on this warrant that Ottman was arrested and furnished bond.

Sore Over His Loss.

Leo Mayer was arrested this afternoon by Officer Heffernan on complaint of H. H. Brundage, who is stopping at the Hotel Bristol. Bundage alleges that about 1 o'clock this morning he was held up on Eighth and Chestnut streets by Mayer and some other parties and robbed of $10 or $12 in money and some pool tickets. W. E. Noonan of No. 3633 Manchester road claims to have been held up afterward by the same gang and robbed of about $1.50. Mayer was formerly a traveling salesman, but is now out of employment, and his friends claim he won the money from Brundage throwing dice, and that the latter is now sore over his loss.

Brundage failed to get a warrant for Mayer's arrest at the Four Courts and the latter was released.

His Reckless Wife.

W. W. Nelson, stock raiser of Las Vegas, N. M., was let off by Judge Cady this morning with a fine of costs for carrying a concealed weapon. He had been arrested upon complaint of his wife. When he married her he took her to Las Vegas, but she became tired of the life she was leading and came to St. Louis. She entered a disreputable house, and after a few days telegraphed the deserted husband for money. He came here and endeavored to induce her to go home with him. She refused; they quarrelled, and she sent for a policeman to get him out of the house. He was arrested and a revolver found on his person. He will give up his endeavors to reform the woman and return home.

NEW YORK, September 18, 11 a. m.—The stock market opened active and strong this morning, first prices generally showing advances of from ⅛ to ½ per cent over the closing figures of yesterday, but Delaware & Hudson was up 1¼, Reading 1⅛ and Jersey Central 1 per cent. The market was feverish and generally heavy in the early dealings, Union Pacific losing 1 per cent and Reading, after advancing ½, dropped 1 per cent. The other coal stocks remained firm while the remainder of the list lost small fractions. Prices then advanced and the early losses were recovered, Western Union being most conspicuous in the rise, gaining 1¼ per cent. The market then became steady at the advance, and at 11 o'clock is active at figures which are generally slightly above the opening.

NEW YORK, September 18, noon—Money quiet at 5@6 per cent. Bar silver 95. The stock market after 11 o'clock became rather heavy and small fractions were lost, while Delaware & Hudson, which had advanced sharply at the end of the previous hour, dropped 1 per cent. The volume of business continued to decrease as the hour advanced and at noon the market is comparatively quiet and steady. Lackawanna rose 1, Canada Southern, Delaware & Hudson and Northern Pacific preferred each ¾, and others smaller fractions, while special strength was developed in Ohio & Mississippi, which advanced 1⅝ per cent.

The advance was checked before 2 p. m., when the market became more and more quiet and reacted small fractions, again became strong, and closed at the best figures of the day.

COMMERCE.

A DAY OF DEPRESSION.

The Markets All Sell Lower, Except Corn, Which Held Firm.

Special by telegraph from Jones, McCormick & Kennett, Chicago, to the POST-DISPATCH.

CHICAGO, September 18, 1 p. m.—Wheat again closes heavy after another day of weakness on about the same influences that characterized the situation for the past four weeks. The market had no lasting support, but did have some good buying at times, which did much to relieve the weakness that was perceptible before this buying set in. Long wheat was quite generally let go as the holders were scared, and such heavy losses crippled them. The market closes at about the lowest point of the day and weak, with puts again good. Receipts in the Northwest continue heavy, farmers crowding along to sell, and the shipping movement is small as compared with the receipts, so that we must make another good increase on the visible supply. There was a little shipping demand here, but not enough to mention or have any effect. Some shorts covered today over Sunday.

Corn was less active and quite steady. The selling pressure having modified, and with lighter receipts predicted and fair shipping demand, the market was quite steady.

Provisions were active and weak, pork dipping under $10 on sales by heavy parties on large receipts of hogs and no support to the market.

St. Louis Markets.

FORENOON SESSION—CLOSING 1 P. M.

The English grain trade is very rapidly getting over its first idea that they must at once proceed to purchase heavily of American wheat, owing to their own short crop and supplies. The Mark Lane Express states that although the actual output of the English harvest cannot now be increased, the proportion of it which may be made marketable by favorable weather is very great, and this circumstance constitutes a very important factor as affecting prices. It must be borne in mind that a free delivery of native wheats in milling condition—should it occur—will, for a time, completely overpower the market and divest the trade of all immediate concern as to whether we shall require two or four million quarters of foreign wheat in excess of receipts or not. It is not the quantity of the native crop which will influence prices during the first three months of the new cereal year, but the condition in which it comes to market. The difference between a seven-million quarters crop and a ten-million quarters crop can only be felt later on if this crop—little or big—comes in straight to the mill. Altered conditions of trading and a plethora of wheat in the world's market have brought about this contingency, but that it exists we have no doubt whatever.——English shippers cannot continue to buy cotton at the rates they lately have—12,000 to 18,000 bales—without almost exhausting the Liverpool stock.——The principal receivers here say that since the decline set in they have been unable to buy any corn to come here, the country refusing to sell at the lower rates. Some have not been able to get a single car load. The present receipts are from old purchases, and it is expected that the present small arrivals will dwindle down still more.——O. C. Hartman of Duluth was on the floor to-day. Speaking of the movement of wheat to that growing market, he stated that so far the greater part of their receipts was old wheat, and that the new crop would not begin to move freely before October. This was a complete surprise to his hearers, but E. O. Stanard, who was in the crowd, said he had just received a letter from a Minneapolis mill which stated the mills were running on old wheat mainly. Mr. Hartman also said that heavy sales had been made by the country for October delivery at money was tight—8 per cent—and the banks are notifying their customers of their inability to advance more money for carrying grain. He this morning received a telegram from his house reporting an increase in Duluth's stock this week of 1,100,000 bu.——A "ghost story" came from New York that big men at Chicago are loading up quietly with a heavy line of wheat.——Daily business of Chicago makes the important and thrilling commercial statement that, "the once popular German has had but slight recognition at Bar Harbor this season." This is a fact the commercial trade has been awaiting with intense interest.——Redmond Cleary wishes to go on record with the statement that, "May wheat at 88 cents will pay a nice profit and the buyer will only have to put up a cent or so in margin."——Export clearances at four Atlantic ports for the past week were 1,589,000 bu wheat and 503,000 bu corn, against 1,94[illegible],000 bu wheat and 346,000 bu corn last week.——Receipts of wheat at eleven primary markets for past week were [illegible],082,000 bu, and shipments 3,032,000 bu; of corn, 3,496,500 bu received and 2,804,000 bu shipped.——Duluth estimates her next Monday's receipts at 900 cars.——Export purchases of wheat at New York to-day were 11 loads.——Commencing next week the Chicago Board of Trade will open on Mondays at 9:30 a. m., the same as on other days.——The Merchants' Exchange will not open next Tuesday until 11 a. m., thus giving the members an opportunity to view the grand parade of the Knights Templars held that day. On the following day (Wednesday) the Exchange will be adjourned all day, as the Charity concert at the Fair Grounds will then be given.

Wheat was as heavy as lead, and entirely too heavy for the bulls to hold up, much more lift to a higher level. This class of traders were utterly discouraged and disgusted, as not one single thing turned up in their favor. The cable news to private parties were even worse than the public report, the latter simply quoting dull markets, while the former were both dull and lower. As for receipts exceeding the shipments at the markets on this side, it had become an old story, but nevertheless as effective as of yore, the carrying charge bugaboo was still harped upon, a heavy increase in the next visible seemed assured, no one wanted the "blamed stuff," except to cover shorts with, and the crowd of sellers kept on increasing. There was a pretty good demand from shorts, who did not care about going over Sunday uncovered, and after the noon call the tone of other markets was strong enough to warrant an advance here. Late, however, prices gave way again and at close were ⅛@¼c below yesterday. October sold at 75⅛c to 74⅝@¾c, opening at 74⅞c and closing at 74⅝@⅞c bid; November at 77¼c to 76⅞c, opening and closing at 77c; December at 79c to 79⅜, opening at 79⅛c and closing at 79c; May at 87⅞c to 88⅛c, closing at 88c. Spot grades were dull and weak, No. 2 red selling ¼c lower, and there was not much of a demand for anything. No. 2 red, 74⅝@74½c; No. 3 red, 70½c bid; No. 4, 67½ in St. L., 67c asked regular; No. 2 Mediterranean, ——; No. 3 do, 6[illegible]c bid regular.

Corn was weak early in the day and some of the leading traders were disposed to hammer the market down by free selling, but only a slight decline was effected. Subsequently the tone became stronger and better, other markets advanced, shorts bought with more freedom, and prices improved, finally closing at top rates, and ¼@⅜c above yesterday. October sold at 35@⅛c to 35⅝c; November at 36⅛c to 36½c; December at 36¼@36⅛@¼c, worth 36½c at close; May at 41¼@41⅝c; September offered at 35c, bid 34½c. Spot grades were firmer, but demand continued light and from no new source. No. 1, 35½c in M. and St. L. and bid for C.; No. 3, 34½c this side; No. 4, 2c bid this side; No. 2 white 39⅝c bid for C. and St. L. and asked for M.; No. 3 do 3[illegible]c this side; no grade ——.

Oats were firm and higher, but speculative trading continued small and was confined to May at 31⅝c to 31¾c. September offered at 26c, bid 25c, October at 25¾c, bid 25½@25⅝c; November at 27c, bid 26½c. The order and feeding demand was active for spot No. 2, which sold higher at 25¼c regular, 25¼@25½c in U., 25⅝c in St. L., 25⅝@25¾c in M.; No. 3, dull at 4¼c bid for C., 25c for St. L.

Rye higher, grade No. 2 selling in St. L. at 49¼c.

Flour was quiet, but showed no change in price. We quote: Patents, $4.20@4.50; straights, $3.60@3.75; clears, $3.10@3.50; mediums, $2.30@2.65: low grades, $1.90@2.20. Quotations of the Louis Flour Dealers' Association were: XX, $2.10@2.20; XXX, $2.30@2.40; family, $2.60@2.75; choice, $3.05@3.25; fancy, $3.45@3.55; extra do, $3.65@3.85; patents at $4.20@4.50. These prices are for lots on arrival at the depot or levee; order lots higher.

Rye Flour—Quiet at $3.30@3.40 per bbl.

Cornmeal—Quiet at $2.10@2.15 for city on orders del.; pearl meal, $2.40; grits and hominy, $2.60@2.70.

Bran dull and weak for bulk at 38@39c at country point, but sacked strong and in demand at 52c f.o.b. this side, 50c at mill.

Hay—Only the best timothy could be sold with any readiness. All else ruling very dull. Prices range as follows: This side—Prairie, $7.50@8.50 for prime to fancy; mixed timothy, $6@9.50; prime to fancy timothy, $10@13.50. East track stock sells about 50c@$1 per ton below the above rates. Heated is selling at any price obtainable.

Provisions declined still more and were as dull and unsettled as for the past few days. Saturday usually is a dull day and the depression that has been holding and working the market down for a couple days past only added to the dullness. Not a trade was heard of in up-country meats to arrive, and summer c'ribs were offered at 7.35c c. and f., without a buyer. Orders were scarce, and trade in consequence small. Standard mess pork jobbed f. o. b. at $11 to $10.75, and heavy at $11. Lard quotable at 6.70c. Boxed dry salt longs sold at 7⅜c, c'ribs at 7.40c, shorts at 7.55c; loose f. o. b. on cash orders—Shoulders, 6⅛c; longs and c'ribs, 7.40c; shorts 7.70c. Packed bacon longs and c'ribs sold at 8@8⅛c, and shorts at 8¼@8½c, and loose shorts at 8¼c. Country lard, 5½@6c per lb. S. c. hams, 12@13½c. Breakfast bacon, 9@10c. Beef—Family, $10@13 ℔ bbl, according to brand; on orders higher; $6@7 ℔ ½-bbl; dried, 12½@13c; selected 15c ℔ lb; smoked tongues, $4.75@5.50 ℔ doz. Tallow—Prime summer rendered, 3⅞c in oil bbls; No. 2, 3¼@3½c in irregular packages, ¼c less. Greese—Brown and yellow, 2½@3¼c; white, 3¼@3¾c; straight lots held higher. Salt—Domestic, $1@1.05 ℔ bbl, as in size of lot. Ground alum, $1.10 ℔ sack—small way higher.

Highwines higher at $1.12 in St. Louis, $1.17 in Chicago, $1.10 in Cincinnati and $1.11 in Peoria.

Lead dull and easy; 3 cars common selling at $4.40, and 4 cars do this side at $4.37½. Refined was offered at $4.42½, but it was doubtful if a bid of $4.40 could be had.

John Wahl & Co. review the market for past week as follows: "Lead still continues a drug on the market, and its near future course is difficult to foreshadow. The conservative element of sellers, however, seems to have come to the conclusion that a change is likely to occur most any time, and that a better demand for the article will be created soon. Transactions for the week ending have been light, at a slight decline from our last quotations. In the neighborhood of 800 tons of common changed hands at prices descending from 4.42½ down to 4⅜. Hear of no trading in desilverized. The latter article is apparently held above market quotations. Corroders have been the most bearish among buyers, and almost in a body withdrawn from market; for this reasan the non-trading in corroding brands. New York market is in a measure the exact reflection of ours, and likewise the personification of dullness. Quotations there are 4.65 for common. 4.70 for refined, with retail sales only. We are inclined to think our next review will read more cheerful."

IF the majority in Maine is big enough to assure the renomination of Mr. BLAINE, it is a bigger majority than many Republicans were reaching after.

IF Col. WEBSTER FLANAGAN succeeds in getting to Congress from Texas, it will be a triumphant reassertion of Republican practice and doctrine, and a scathing rebuke to the fastidious mugwumps.

IT is painful to learn from the speech of ex-Gov. FLETCHER at the Rock Island reunion of the Army of the Tennessee that loyal citizens are still enduring unheard-of sufferings in their country's cause. Somebody should whisper in FLETCHER'S ear that the war is over.

A RUSSIAN agent has informed the Bulgarian Government that Russia will not only maintain the independence of Bulgaria, but will reserve for herself the right to defend it. This obtrusive but tender guardianship will not be very consoling to the wise men of Bulgaria.

STAR ROUTE BRADY'S threat to publish a book of revelations has excited the New York Times into an explosion of wrathful trepidation. Is the Times opposed to political history on principle, or is it afraid of catching a few stray shots when BRADY discharges his rusty blunderbuss?

IT is a very stupid and clumsy device of partisan tactics to ascribe the condition of a State to the political complexion of its State government; but if this test is to be recognized, it should be remembered that Vermont, which laid its first street-car track last year, is "reliably Republican," and likely to remain so for a generation at least.

IF Mr. BRADY will simply write his promised revelations and carry the manuscript around the country in his pocket, he might extract larger profit from it than he could get from it in book form. The suspended sword is sometimes more effective than the sword in action; and a movable powder magazine is calculated to inspire respect and complaisance.

EX-GOV. CRITTENDEN has declared himself for HALE in the free fight between the latter and MANSUR for Congress. In his unremitting struggle for office ever since the war, MANSUR has made a great many enemies and among them Gov. CRITTENDEN. It will be remembered that they had a hot controversy and called each other liars, or words to that effect, about the insurance commissionership which was given to another when MANSUR claimed that it had been promised to him by the Governor.

THE country which has endured with composure the vacancy in the Austrian mission will be delighted to hear that a good reason has been found for filling it with a good man. The good man is Congressman TUCKER of Virginia, and the good reason for appointing him is that "he has two charming daughters who are "desirous of going abroad to complete "their education." Coarse and brutal skeptics who have hitherto refused to see the utility of our diplomatic service will hereafter be awed into respectful silence.

THE National Convention of Knights of Labor which meets next month in Richmond, Va., should make an authoritative repudiation of the imported evangelists of European socialism, who are now tramping through this country and striving to identify the cause of labor with their own visionary crusade. Socialism and anarchy, which are necessarily related, represent the cause of idleness and have nothing in common with labor. The laboring men of America, who by work and sagacity are constantly recruiting the ranks of the rich from their own numbers, do not need the instruction of alien nomads who are trying to teach the world how to be idle and comfortable without money and without the trouble of working for it.

AMERICANS IN ENGLAND.

ADAM BADEAU, in his sketches on Aristocracy in England, devotes an interesting chapter to the Americans in London society. In this he maintains that the admission of Americans to English society on terms of social equality began at a quite recent date, and that formerly they were received chiefly as freaks or curiosities. The blase aristocrats sought their company for the sake of the piquant novelty which one looks for in a savage. The writer mentions an English society lady who, when asked it she would like to meet some refined and agreeable Americans, replied: "We know plenty of 'nice' people already; "what's the use of meeting more just "like ourselves?" and then one of her companions added: "Bring on your savages!" The social leaders in question were not hunting for refinement and respectability among the American colony; what they wanted was a novelty, something that was pleasantly uncouth and barbarian. While such characteristics among Americans prevail as the passports to social recognition among the English aristocracy, it is needless to add that many Americans find abroad a social popularity and consideration which they do not enjoy at home; while on the other hand the doors of this class of English society are shut against the really refined elements of American society.

London Life, in a recent literary criticism, takes up this subject and devotes a paragraph to Americans of doubtful or unknown origin, who have come to be social luminaries in aristocratic London. In handling the topic it uses language like this: "There are at this moment "Americans here, of both sexes, for whom "no one in their own country has the "faintest respect, yet who here are re"ceived by our best people with open "arms." After such a candid statement by a competent authority, one should hesitate before gauging any American's respectability by the degree of social recognition extended to him or her by the best English society.

A NEW INVENTION.

It is very important for office-seekers who travel a long distance to Washington to reduce economical living to a science during the sickening period of deferred hope. The men who want office are not wealthy as a class, and many of them are in very indigent circumstances and often have to waste a good deal of gastric juice on vacant stomachs while waiting to learn the fate of their applications.

An Italian scientist claims to have invented a cheap fluid preparation which, taken in small doses, will enable a person to dispense with food for weeks at a time, and the Richmond (Va.) Dispatch thinks that some important American history might have been differently written if the Confederates had made such a discovery. The same preparation would enable some faithful and expectant partisan to conduct a longer siege at Washington when hoping against hope and waiting for something to turn up. But Judge McCUE of California, who is now lingering at Washington on a very cold trail, has succeeded in reducing the expense of subsistence to a minimum. It is best to let the Judge describe his new process in his own words:

"I usually turn out at about 11 o'clock and take breakfast. I go to the dairy around the corner and buy a cup of coffee for 5 cents and with the other 5 cents I get five Maryland biscuits. My breakfast is eaten slowly and well digested. It generally lasts me until about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. I always go provided with several pieces of alum. When I begin to get hungry I place one of these bits of alum in my mouth and allow it to slowly dissolve. The effect is that it contracts the throat and the stomach and the sensation of hunger disappears. I repeat this dose until bedtime and I fall asleep like a child. Gentlemen, let me tell you that eating is nothing but a habit after all."

It is probable that the President and heads of departments will learn with alarm that the office-seekers can now defy starvation with Judge McCUE'S very simple alum-eating process. The Judge deserves credit for his inventive talent; but he fails to tell us how he proceeds when his stock of alum gives out.

THE nomination by the Republicans of Councilman CUMMINGS for Congress in the Eighth District will give Mr. O'NEILL all that he can do to save the district. There is a large Irish vote in the district, and a large Catholic vote and a large labor vote inclined to a protective tariff. As an Irish Catholic and a manufacturer Mr. CUMMINGS would naturally receive a great deal of support from these elements, and he has the advantage of a general good reputation as a public-spirited citizen of sound sense and experience in public affairs. The lively manner in which Mr. CUMMINGS ran ahead of his ticket on the whole city vote is an indication of how dangerous a customer he would be to meet in his own bailiwick, and a count of noses on a full vote shows that whoever wants to carry the district must fight for it.

WHEN Senator JONES gets back to Florida he should be put on the same reservation with GERONIMO.

UP to date, no one has accused Senator LOGAN of paying ST. JOHN'S expenses during the Maine campaign.

THE Missouri Pacific wants employes who will vote the Gould ticket at all times and under all circumstances.

WHEN Mr. BLAINE and HENRY GEORGE begin to convert each other on the protection question, there will be liveliness.

THE Chicago Rambler gives a picture of a group of authors in heaven reading their posthumous productions. Their surprise may be imagined.

WHEN Gen. BRAGG of Wisconsin succeeds in picking himself up, he should reflect that he once figured in a phenomenal role as a bloody-shirt Democrat.

IF Secretary WHITNEY still needs names for his new ships, he should use up the names of GERONIMO and his staff, which the red men may not need much longer.

THE colored people of the South propose holding a big fair in Washington City to celebrate their industrial achievements during recent years. Such an enterprise would impair the effectiveness of several old mill-dewed and graveolent booms.

THE METROPOLITAN PRESS.

What the Editors of the New York Journals Are Saying This Morning.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, September 18.—The WORLD says to-day: "The upshot of the Chicago gathering, therefore, is that its preferred remedy is no remedy at all, while its alternative remedy is already available in a large number of States, and needs no Republican sham crusade to establish it elsewhere."

THE SUN.

The Sun says: "Senator Blair's remark that as between free rum and low license he prefers high license, indicates that there is a corner in his mind in which the practical solution of the liquor problem is being considered. Inasmuch as he seems open to conviction, we would suggest that, while he need not lower the flag of prohibition, he might amend his declaration as follows: 'We prefer prohibition, but, as between free rum and prohibition, we will vote for high license.' "

THE TRIBUNE.

The Tribune says: "The National Convention of anti-Saloon Republicans at Chicago has adopted a platform which may be regarded as the first step toward organized and practical action within the Republican party for the reform of the saloon evil. The convention has been sneered at as unrepresentative. In fact, it represented faithfully the strongest temperance element in the country; that element of clear-seeing Republicans who, while profoundly convinced of the need of temperance reform, believe that the right and the only sure way to secure it is by compelling the party with which they are identified to make it a leading issue."

THE TIMES.

The Times says: "It is a curious perversion of facts that represents the Post-office Department as having backed down from its position on the subject of compensating American steamships for carrying foreign mails. Its position was that it would not divide the special appropriation authorized for that purpose among companies, but would pay the sea and inland postage for the service. After refusing for more than a year to accept the latter and perform the service, the companies finally came to terms and accepted an offer that had all the while been open to them. If there was any backing down, that operation was certainly not performed by the Post-office Department."

THREATENED SHERMAN.

Row at an Army Reunion—A Bank Suspends Payment—Illinois Items.

ROCK ISLAND, September 18.—Maj. J. M. Bearisley of this city had a tilt with Gen. W. T. Sherman last night after the banquet of the Society of the Army of the Tennessee. The General had called the Major to order during the speaking and at the close he met the General in a hotel, shook his fist in his face and used violent language. Friends prevented trouble.

QUINCY, September 18.—The Glass Bank at Mt. Sterling suspended payment yesterday. The liabilities are placed at $100,000.

SPRINGFIELD, September 18.—Archibald Jones, a farmer near Rochester, committed suicide during the night. No cause was assigned.

URBANA, September 18.—The Illinois Annual Conference of the M. E. Church yesterday appointed a committee to report upon the Chinese outrages practiced in this country.

ROODHOUSE, September 18.—A tramp threw himself under the wheels of a freight train last night and was cut to pieces.

A FATAL ASSAULT.

William Dwyer, Keeper of a Chicago Dive, Found Murdered.

CHICAGO, September 18.—At 3 o'clock this morning a police officer heard cries for assistance from a low saloon at No. 315 Clark street, kept by a man named William Dwyer. The officer on entering a rear room found a disreputable woman named Minnie Ahern caressing Dwyer, who was lying on the floor, his head resting in a pool of his blood and his skull fractured in several places. The injured man was removed to the County Hospital, where he died an hour later. The woman was taken to the station where she told the officers that a man named Billy Clark was one of the last persons seen about the place. Clark was arrested. The police will make more arrests to-day and are confident of apprehending the murderer.

A BIG PARTY.

Eight Thousand Odd Fellows Start From Chicago for Boston.

CHICAGO, Ill., September 18.—More than eight thousand Odd-Fellows, many of them accompanied by their wives and friends, left for Boston over the Grand Trunk road this morning to attend the meeting of the Grand Supreme Lodge, which begins next Monday morning. It took more than one hundred and and seventy cars to carry them, and trains started every twenty minutes after 9:30 o'clock from the Polk Street depot. There were representatives on the trains from every lodge in the West and Northwest, many coming from as far south as Texas, and west as far as San Francisco. Seven car loads from Denver and seventeen from Minneapolis and St. Paul.

ONCE-A-WEEK.

The Coke Works in the Connellsville Region to Be Closed.

PITTSBURG, September 18.—The coke syndicate has decided to close down all the works in the Connellsville region every Wednesday until further notice on account of a falling off in the demand. No change has been made in the price because the present slackening in demand is not considered as indicating any change in the volume of the iron trade. It is caused by a number of furnaces having gone out of blast for repairs, and every one of these will go in blast again as soon as the repairs are completed. The production of pig iron during July and August was greater than during those months of any previous year. Thus, although the demand is large and steady, the stocks have been increased so as to be abundant to meet it.

KILLED IN SELF DEFENSE.

An Arkansas Doctor Shot While Collecting a Bill.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

LITTLE ROCK, September 18.—Private advices from Magnolia, Ark., state that on the 15th inst., Dr. Lockhart of that place went to the house of one LeCroy to collect a bill, which the latter was unable to pay. The doctor became enraged, and, drawing a knife, threatened to kill him. LeCroy took up his gun to defend himself, and as Lockhart advanced shot, killing him instantly. The affair has created much excitement.

A DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.

Three Brothers Named Morgan Drowned while Bathing in the Chattanooga.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 18.—News of a distressing accident in North Georgia has just been received. Three brothers named Morgan, aged 24, 21 and 18 years respectively, were in bathing in the Chattanooga River. The youngest was attacked with a cramp and sank twice. His two brothers went to his rescue and all three were drowned. The bodies were not recovered.

UP IN ARMS.

THE TORIES ANNOYED BY THE OBSTRUCTIVE TACTICS OF THE PARNELLITES.

Gladstone's Attitude on the Parnell Bill—Probabilities that Parliament Will Rise for Recess Next Saturday—Serious Illness of Cardinal Jacobini—Hostile Arabs in the Soudan Assembling in Force—Foreign News.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, September 18.—There is now a good prospect that Parliament will rise for the recess on Saturday next. Within the last twenty-four hours the supply bill has made great progress. There is really nothing to do now but to dispose of Parnell's bill. The Cabinet met yesterday—in ignorance of Gladstone's tactics—and resolved to adhere firmly in their opposition. They will meet the bill with a simple negative, and, with much parade of sympathy, will base their refusal upon the sufficiency of the existing law to provide for cases of emergency. They will, however, probably not make the division vital to the existence of the Government. Some Irish Tories would be embarrassed by such a discussion, but the Cabinet will meet again after Gladstone has shown his hand. Gladstone is expected to reach London to-night. He has not yet declared himself upon the bill as amended. At the same time it is pretty certain that he would not return from Bavaria to vote with the Government majority on such a matter. He regards the operation of Ashburn's land-purchase act as dangerous to sound financial principles, and the present policy of the Government as

and preventing the remission of rent. It is said by his friends that he also considers the appointment of the commission to inquire into the working of the land act of 1881 as thoroughly justifying the bill for the suspension of evictions in special circumstances. The Tories are up in arms against the obstructive tactics of the Parnellites. The Government, however, have watched the proceedings of the week with secret satisfaction. They have wanted some excuse for delaying with the procedure, the first thing next session. I fancy they have got it, but the obstruction this week has been nothing to that which was seen in the Parliament of 1880. Moreover, it is nothing to what the Parnellites can do if they determine on a policy of exasperation. It is doubtful if any new rules can seriously check their eighty-six men from speaking to the point. They can stop the Parliamentary machine any day. Government and their friends think otherwise. When the present matter is out of the way, Churchill will have other important matters to engage him, such as the Irish land bill, public works for Ireland and possibly the reform of English local taxation in the interests of agriculture. The session may thus be frittered away in spite of the declarations of Wednesday last. The Government know that when once they begin with the question of their position will become very difficult, if not dangerous. There is small hope of their tackling it before 1888, if they can manage to put it off. The Daily News this morning in an energetic leader called "Duty of the Liberal Party," says, in reference to Parnell's bill: "Whatever course the Government may take it seems to us there can be no question as to the policy to be adopted by the Liberal party. They are pledged to Irish self-government in the matter of purely domestic concerns. This is one of those essentially home matters which may properly be left to the decision of the Irish people. When, therefore, representatives of Irish constituencies ask that the measure should be passed, their request a priori is strong reason in its favor. It would not be a reason for passing a measure of spoliation or bad faith, but nothing of the kind is here involved. The Liberal party ought to see in these proposals and circumstances which have brought them forth, not party opportunity but the call of patriotic duty. The Liberals have made themselves responsible for the attempt to deal with the perennial Irish difficulty on new lines, to pacify Ireland by putting Irish matters under the control of the Irish people. It is their duty, therefore, to stand up firmly against any attempt to the policy they reject."

The Spectator, taking the view of the Liberal-Unionists, declares that Parnell's bill as it stands is inadmissible. The Nationalist leader, it says, is asking a great deal too much. It rejects the first two clauses, and with regard to the third, asserts that its wisdom and fairness depend on evidence alone. The Clan-Na-Gael may like to know that the English barristers who defended Cunningham and Burton for the Tower and Westminster explosions, have never been paid, and will doubtless be glad to receive the $4,000 due them from the dynamite fund.

LITERARY CHAT.

Macmillan will issue immediately a novel called "A Northern City," by Joaquina Harrison, a new writer.

"John Westacott" is the title of a novel by James Baker, to be published in October by Sampson & Low.

The eighth volume of the "Dictionary of National Biography" will be published on the 27th of September. It comprises Burton to Cantwall.

"The Diversion of a Bookworm" is the title of a small volume by the author of "The Pleasures of a Bookworm," to be published by Elliot Stock.

The next volume of the Canterbury poets to be published by Walter Scott will be "Children of the Poets," an anthology of English and American writers of the last three centuries arranged with an introduction by Eric Robertson.

The Academy hears that Prof. Dowden's life of Shelley will appear before the end of the year.

Ireland.

THE NEW LORD LIEUTENANT.

DUBLIN, September 18.—The Marquis of Londonderry, the new Viceroy of Ireland, arrived at Kingstown early this morning. His voyage across the channel was pleasant.

The arrival of the Lord Lieutenant was signalled by a royal salute. He will not land until noon, when he will proceed in state to Dublin Castle.

FATHER FAHEY.

GALWAY, September 18.—Father Fahey, the Catholic priest who is undergoing six months' imprisonment here for alleged threats against a landlord for having evicted one of the priest's parishioners at Woodford, in an interview to-day with an Associated Press reporter, said: "I never mentioned dynamite to Mr. Lewis. I never threatened him. I never urged the people to groan against him. I did not give bail because such a compliance would have been a tacit admission that my defense was false, and if I made a false defense I would prove myself unworthy of the priesthood."

CHEERS AND GROANS.

The state entry of the Marquis of Londonderry into Dublin was made with the usual official demonstration, but was devoid of incident. The Marquis was accompanied by his wife, Lady Londonderry. They were received in Westland Row by a crowd which cheered them. Both the Marquis and Lady Londonderry rode from the station on horseback. Lady Londonderry, as a tribute to the Irish people, wore a dress of white poplin. When the couple departed from the railway station, they were greeted with cheers, followed by groans. The Marquis recognized the greeting by lifting his hat, bowing with a smile to the crowd. The entire route from the railway station to Dublin Castle was lined with troops. Most of the buildings were decorated and the streets looked gay. The Hibernian Bank building was conspicuous by its total lack of flags, bunting or decoration. The Kildare Street Club was filled with people. In Nassau street a banner with the inscription, "The Queen and the Constitution," was displayed. During of the vice-regal procession, the cheers nearly everywhere were accompanied by groans. The vice-regal party was welcomed at the castle by a large crowd of loyalists, who cheered heartily. There was also a hostile crowd there which did its best to offset the welcome by cheering lustily for Parnell and "United Ireland." The hostiles attempted to follow this up as the Marquis and Lady Londonderry entered the castle by singing "God Save Ireland," but the people rallied and put stop to this.

Italy.

SUCCI'S SUCCESSFUL FAST.

ROME, September 18.—Succi, the faster, has successfully accomplished his task of subsisting thirty days without ordinary food on mineral waters and an extract from African root. He finished his task without being at all exhausted.

CARDINAL JACOBINI'S ILLNESS.

The illness of Cardinal Jacobini, Papal Secretary of State, has assumed a critical stage. The attempt to relieve the patient from the gout in his chest, from which he suffers, was unsuccessful. The greatest anxiety is felt in Papal circles about the issue of the Cardinal's illness.

Germany.

EMPEROR WILLIAM.

STRASBURG, September 18.—Emperor William drove out to-day to the ground where the army maneuvers are being conducted.

Egypt.

GONE TO LONDON.

ALEXANDRIA, September 18.—Nubar Pasha, the Egyptian Prime Minister, has, at the request of the British Government, started for London, to assist in the settlement of Egyptian affairs. The hostile Arabs of the Soudan have assembled in force in Dongola and now threaten the Egyptian frontier.

The convicts employed by the Egyptian Government at the Djebelzeit petroleum works mutinied recently and twenty-four of the mutineers had to be killed before the others could be forced again into submission.

Madagascar.

CLEVER ADVICE.

PARIS, September 18.—The Republic Francaise, urges the French Government to take advantage of the fact that England has her hands too full to enforce the French protectorate over Madagascar. Otherwise, England, when she becomes disengaged, will become mistress of the situation.

The Dominion.

JUDGE BROOKS.

MONTREAL, September 18.—It is understood that Judge Brooks of Sherbrooke, Ontario, will be appointed Lieutenant-Governor of the Northwest Territory.

THE WRECKED STEAMSHIP.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., September 18.—All that has been ascertained of the wrecked steamship in Belle Isle Strait is that cattle, oak-grained paneling and doors, spars, bedding and cabin furniture have been driven ashore. The ship has not yet been identified. There is no telegraphic communication with Belle Isle Strait.

A CANADIAN DOGBERRY.

QUEBEC, September 18.—A young immigrant was recently arrested at the railway station in South Quebec and subsequently fined $5 and costs for singing "God Save the Queen." The policeman who made the arrest fancied that the prisoner was singing an immoral song.

VERY, VERY CONFIDENT.

Senator Don Cameron Believes the Republicans Have a Chance to Win.

PHILADELPHIA, September 18.—In conversation with a Times reporter yesterday, Senator Don Cameron said: "I expect to get to Harrisburg in about two or three weeks, and shall there remain during the campaign. It is a central place, convenient for our friends."

"What do you think of the prospects?"

"Why, Beaver and the ticket will be elected, of course. Have you heard anybody say they won't be? The people of Pennsylvania know what they want. They do not want another Democratic Administration, either State or National, and they are going to begin right now to see that Republicans are put in power. I don't think it can be said that anybody interfered with this ticket. It represents the wishes of the people."

"I see your name mentioned as Chairman of the National Committee."

"Yes, I have been mentioned, but no one has mentioned it to me. The chairman is generally suggested by the nominees so that such an event is subject to a good many contingencies. There is no question that we will be badly handicapped in the race of 1888, as we will have the whole weight of the Administration against us. I don't think any fine points of political ethics in the shape of civil service reform will trouble our friends on the other side when the time for action comes. It is a good thing to talk about, but I want to see it put to the pressure of the exigencies of a Democratic campaign. We can then see how much there is in civil-service reform. I don't want to doubt the President's sincerity, but I shall be curious to see the experiment under fire. We will be at a disadvantage at best, and we must get all our forces together." In reply to a question, the Senator said: "I have not seen Mr. Blaine for some time, but it is said that he will be in the State during the campaign and I shall see him then."

In regard to general politics in the State the Senator said that excellent men had been nominated on the legislative ticket and he could see no material change in the political situation in Legislative districts which would indicate any danger as to the winning of a handsome majority, which would insure the choice of a Republican United States Senator.

A SALE OF A LOCOMOTIVE.

The Missouri Pacific Railway Company Denied the Stoppage of a Sale.

Judge Lubke to-day in chambers denied the temporary injunction sought by the Missouri Pacific Railway Company to restrain the sale of a locomotive in its yards on Twenty-second street by the Sheriff next Monday morning. This is a somewhat peculiar case. Judge Louis Gottschalk, assignee, in respect of a judgment obtained by Jacob Neier against the Missouri Pacific Company in a damage suit, took steps to enforce payment of the same, and the Sheriff advertised one of the company's locomotives for sale, to satisfy the execution. The judgment was recovered in the Circuit Court in the sum of $2,000 on account of personal injuries sustained by the wife of Neier who was thrown out of a milk wagon by a train on the Poplar street track. The company appealed the case to the Court of Appeals, where the judgment was affirmed. Another suit entered against the company by the wife resulted in a judgment in her favor for $4,000 and that case reached the Supreme Court where the judgment was reversed on the ground of contributory negligence. In view of that holding by the Supreme Court the Company sought to restrain satisfaction of the husband's judgment, but Judge Lubke held that the judgment having been affirmed by the Court of Appeals, that being a court of last resort in sums under $2,500, the Circuit Court could not interfere with the steps taken to enforce satisfaction.

A Conspicuous Obstruction.

Complaint is made of the obstruction caused by the rock-pile at the corner of Fourth and Olive streets. The principal use of the rock is to hold down the guy of a derrick which is not in use, and as no work is being done on the building, there is a strong feeling that the obstruction should be removed at least during Conclave week.

Robbed While Asleep.

While asleep in one of the coaches of the incoming train of the St. Louis & San Francisco Road this morning, C. A. Palmer, of No. 1111 Clark avenue, had his pocket picked of a pocket book containing $250. He was returning home from a prospecting tour in the Southwest.

COME TO THE CONCLAVE.

ARRIVAL OF THREE OFFICERS OF THE GRAND ENCAMPMENT.

Grand Recorder Parvin on the Business of the Conclave—Exorbitant Hotel Charges—Receiving the Knights—Two Flambeau Parades Next Week—Grand Master Withers Sick—Conclave Chat.

The trains which arrived at the Union Depot this morning brought in a few individual Knights Templars. A few may arrive on the evening trains, but they will not come in any numbers until to-morrow, when nearly all of them are expected to arrive. They will commence coming in the morning and trains bringing them in will be arriving all day. Nearly all the roads are to run special trains. The Missouri Pacific alone will run five extra trains to-morrow morning in addition to their two regular, and they expect before this evening to have orders for a couple more extras. Other roads are experiencing similar rushes, and it is safe to say that one-half of the commanderies will be in the city by to-morrow night.

Robert E. Withers, the Grand Master of the Grand Encampment, will arrive Monday morning at the latest. He may reach the city to-morrow. A tender of an escort by the Grand Commandery of Virginia awaited him on his arrival in the United States, and he replied from Cheyenne, W. T., accepting the escort with thanks. He comes from his post in China on a three months' furlough for the especial purpose of presiding during the encampment in St. Louis. The tender of the escort was made through Past Grand Commander Peyton S. Coles, now Grand Representative of the Fourth District of Templars in the United States, and Wm. B. Isaacs, Past Grand Commander, both of the Virginia Commandery. These gentlemen are personal friends and Masonic companions of Grand Master Withers, and have gone to Kansas City to receive him. Mr. Withers is unwell and hence he may be delayed on his arrival.

TO-DAY'S ARRIVALS.

Among the arrivals this morning were three of the officers of the Grand Encampment, Hugh McCurdy, Grand Captain-General; Theo. S. Parvin, Grand Recorder, and Rev. Geo. C. Betts, Grand Prelate. Three of the division commanders registered at Knights Templars headquarters this morning. They were Chas. W. Dunning of Cairo, Ill., Past Eminent Commander of Cairo Commandery; Geo. F. Rogers of Hamilton, Past Grand Commander of Missouri, and Benjamin F. Haller of Memphis, Tenn. The other arrivals were Jno. Ure of Eau Claire, Wis., member of the Missouri Entertainment Committee; Joe Talbot of Sacramento; J. B. Hill, New York; Jos. S. Fenn, Elizabeth, N. J.; Alex. Stevens, and Aug. Strasburg of Albuquerque, N. M.; A. H. Maxwell, Altoona, Pa.; W. J. Terrell of Harrisonville, Past Grand Commander of Missouri; A. D. McConaughy, Atchison, Kan.; D. C. Webb of Council Grove; Jno. Penman, Jefferson, Tex.; M. M. Leeper, Dallas, Tex; R. E. McAnulty, Captain-General, Albany (Tex.) Commandery; J. K. Ashby of Fort Worth; G. A. Rothgeb, Las Vegas; Geo. L. Hassett, Moberly, Mo., Prelate Tancred Commandery, and W. H. Cook and wife, Globe, Ariz.

TENNESSEE AND WISCONSIN.

Benj. F. Haller, Past Grand Commander of Tennessee and Commander of the Nineteenth division, stated this morning that Memphis would probably send thirty Knights, Nashville fifty-three and Knoxville and Chattanooga small delegations. Mr. Haller will see Capt. McCulloch this afternoon to perfect his parade arrangements. He expresses himself as very much pleased with the preparations made thus far. Mr. Haller will appoint as his aid for the parade of Tuesday Wm. C. Smith, Grand Captain-General of Tennessee.

John Ure of Eau Claire, Wis., was until recently a resident of Hannibal, Mo., and is Past Grand Commander of this State. He is also chairman of one of the sub-committees of the Triennial Committee. Mr. Ure says the Eau Claire Knights have been making great preparations for the Conclave and will send between seventy-five and 100 men to St. Louis.

GRAND RECORDER PARVIN

came in on an early morning train and spent most of the forenoon getting his office in the Exposition building in shape. Mr. Parvin is accompanied by his son. To a POST-DISPATCH reporter he said: "Until I have seen Grand Master Withers I cannot tell how the business of the Conclave will be arranged. We had not known until this week whether the Grand Master was coming. Being in doubt the Deputy Grand Master refused to appoint the necessary committees. According to law, these committees should have been appointed thirty days before the meeting of the Grand Encampment. The only committee appointed is the Committee on Jurisprudence of which Jas. H. Hopkins, Past Grand Master, is Chairman. There are yet to be appointed Committees on Credentials, Grievances, Location of the next Triennial, New Commanderies, Unfinished Business, Printing and the Doings of Grand Officers. These will probably be appointed by the Grand Master on Tuesday. The Grand Encampment will meet after the parade Tuesday afternoon. The only business transacted on that day will be the delivery of addresses of welcome by the Governor and Mayor and by Grand Commander Browne of Missouri, the presentation of reports of grand officers and the appointment of committees. The first part of the exercises will be public.

THE ENCAMPMENT BUSINESS.

The topics for discussion will be the question of a permanent location for the Grand Encampment, proposed amendments to the Constitution and proposed amendments to the ritual. I do not think a permanent location will be agreed upon at this Conclave, but the opening wedge may be entered. At present local commanderies make catspaws of us to draw the Knights together in a grand jollification."

Mr. Parvin expressed the opinion that a great many thousand people had been kept away from St. Louis by the extortionate charges of the hotels. He had a suite of rooms in the Baldwin Hotel, San Francisco, at $15 a day and a suite in the Grand Pacific, Chicago, during the encampment there, at the same price. Here the Southern Hotel wanted to charge him $75 a day for one room. As a consequence, he was obliged to get a room in a private house on Lucas place. Apollo Commandery of Cedar Rapids, Mr. Parvin said, had sent down here to engage rooms for 100 knights. They could not get reasonable rates and now only six of them were coming. Mr. Parvin does not blame the Triennial Committee, but he says the hotel and boarding-house people of St. Louis are extortionate.

THE RECEPTION COMMITTEES.

S. E. Waggoner, Chairman of the River Reception Committee, has decorated his office on the levee with flags and bunting. A few Sir Knights from local commanderies went down this afternoon to meet any arrivals. To-morrow twenty-five Knights from Tancred Commandery of Moberly, and twenty from Emanuel Commandery will be on duty, and Monday delegations from Kadosh, Kansas City and Bethany Commanderies, all of Missouri.

At noon to-day representatives from the four St. Louis commanderies went on duty at Union Depot to remain until Tuesday. The Knights will stand six-hour watches.

THE FLAMBEAUX

The Triennial Committee last night appropriated $1,500 for another flambeau parade. There will be flambeau parades on Wednesday and Friday of next week.

CONCLAVE CHAT.

Grand Commander Jos. S. Browne of the Grand Commandery of Missouri is in Kansas City to-day and will come down to-night with Grand Master Withers and his escort.

T. M. Lubbock, Grand Commander of Texas, telegraphs: "One hundred Knights and myself will attend Triennial from Texas."

El Aksa Commandery, No. 55, of Quincy, Ill., will arrive Monday at 5:40 p. m. about fifty strong with a band of twelve pieces.

Palestine, No. 7, of Savannah, Ga., will bring fifteen Knights.

The New York Battalion will arrive to-morrow morning in twenty-seven sleepers over the B. & O.

The California delegation comes in in twenty sleepers to-morrow morning.

The members of St. Aldemar Commandery, No. 18, Knights Templars, will hold a special conclave this afternoon at which all the details will be arranged for duty at next week's Conclave.

The first of the Pennsylvania delegation arrived this morning at the Laclede Hotel, and at noon to-day a very large headquarters banner was stretched over the street in front of the hotel.

Twelve of the Boston Knights, with those who accompany them, started two days in advance of the delegation, and are now in Kentucky visiting Mammoth Cave. They will be here to-morrow.

The question that has long agitated the Knights of the country, whether it is proper to say Knights Templar or Knights Templars, will be officially determined in the encampment next week.

The work of decorating the Merchants' Exchange for Ascalon's reception was begun to-day.

Louisville Commandery No. 1 will arrive Monday morning.

LATE LITIGATION.

A Marked Decrease in New Business for the Five Circuit Judges.

The entries in the Circuit Court for the approaching October term close to-day. At noon the docket showed 650 new suits, and by the closing hour, 5 o'clock, the number will be increased to 700 probably. The corresponding term last year presented a record of 900 suits, and the marked decrease is a subject for legal discussion. It is difficult to account for such a diminution of business in the courts. Many judges and lawyers adhere to the opinion that times of prosperity have the effect of reducing litigation, while others hold that a healthy condition of business leads to a multiplicity of lawsuits. In adverse times the records of the St. Louis courts have shown a vast amount of commercial litigation. Business houses of late years, however, have resorted in a large measure to arbitration in the settlement of disputes, preferring a speedy compromise outside of court to a long siege of litigation within.

The rapacity of some lawyers at this bar in the matter of fees accounts in no small degree for the withdrawal of commercial business. The Bar Association, which aimed at purification and elevation, appears to be enjoying a long sleep, and public confidence has become shaken in respect of the methods and practices of several men who are permitted to conduct legal business in some of the St. Louis courts. Many of the solid legal firms have branched out of late years into western mining enterprises and few of the strong old partnerships upholding the character and dignity of the bar remain.

FIRST FAMILY JAR.

A Bridal Couple Fight While Returning From the Ceremony.

Fanny Schultz, alias Burgess, alias Newman, the 250-pound keeper of a disreputable house and cigar store at 305 South Broadway, who has figured so much in the First District Police Court recently, and her servant, Mary Olsen, were up to-day on counter charges of disturbing the peace. When Fanny married Michael Newman a little over a week ago, Mary drove to Justice Taaffe's office in a carriage with them and officiated as bridesmaid for her delicate and handsome mistress. They celebrated the marriage by getting drunk and on the way home in the hack the happy couple indulged in their first family fight, Michael getting away with his heavy-weight champion in a bare knuckle encounter. Mary kept up her drunk until the next day, when her amazon mistress bit her a shoulder blow in the nose, drawing the claret. Mike and Fanny said that Mary's nose was very red, anyhow, and made to bleed very easily. Fanny was fined $10 and Mary $5, but Mary's fine was afterward stayed.

TO SAVE HIMSELF.

John C. Larwill, of Loudonville, O., Assigns His Vast Property.

MANSFIELD, O., September 18.—John C. Larwill, of this city, formerly of Loudonville, made an assignment to Paul Oliver last night. Larwill's property is worth $800,000, but he was on the bail bond of A. A. Taylor, deceased, of Loudonville, to the amount of $185,000, and was creditor to him for $60,000. Taylor's estate is found to be insolvent and his creditors had commenced to appeal to Larwill, the estate of deceased not being liable for collection for a year. An assignment was made to save Larwill's real estate, in which most of his money is invested, from being sacrificed. Larwill will have several hundred thousand dollars left, even if compelled to pay all the bail money, for which he is supposed to be liable.

A BRUTAL MURDER.

Two Italians Set Upon a Companion and Literally Butcher Him.

LIGONIER, Pa., Sept. 18.—Tony Inajlioto, an Italian, employed on a pipe line, was brutally murdered last evening by two companions of the same nationality named Nicholas Angell and Frederick Steffin. The three quarreled over a small money transaction and Angell and Steffin set upon Inajlioto with knives, revolvers and pick-handles. After Angell had crushed his skull with a pick-handle, Steffin jumped on his prostrate form and stabbed him several times in the breast. Death was almost instantaneous. The murder was committed in full view of the other workmen, and in the excitement following the murderers escaped. They are still at liberty.

"IS I SHOT?"

HOW SULLIVAN KNOCKED OUT AN AMBITIOUS AND NEEDY NEGRO.

Frank Glover's Defeat by Paddy Ryan Explained—Dominick McCaffrey and Nolan—Dominick Waiting to Do Ryan—Tommy Danforth and Jimmy Hogan's Relative Merits—Dick Hollywood's Record—English Opinion of American Sports—Macon's Melange.

Special Correspondence of the POST-DISPATCH.

PHILADELPHIA, September 16.—Sullivan and Hearld aae having a hard time of it getting together. The other day it was announced that they would surely fight at Coney Island, but the authorities will not permit it and now they intend to move westward and try to bring the affair off at Pittsburg. I think Hearld is overtrained and I know that Sullivan is not in as good fix as he was two weeks ago. He has not been drinking, however, and I still adhere to my belief that he will do Hearld in short order if they ever meet in a ring. A gentleman was telling me the other evening about a fight Sullivan had here with a darky. It took place at the outset of his fistic career, before he fought Paddy Ryan. He was the card of the week at Johnny Clark's and advertised to give $50 to any man who would last him not four rounds, but four minutes. A gigantic negro from Wilmington thought he would take in that L, and he presented himself as a candidate for it. A dusky friend said to him, "You fool niggah, you can't fite wid dat ar man. He done break yer jaw." "No, he won't," was the reply. "I know hi hain't much on er boxer, but I'll done cotch him in my arms and I'll hold um tight till de four minutes is up. Den dat money's mine, shuah." The darky wasn't able to carry out his programme as he intended. At the call of time, he advanced toward "Sully" with extended arms, intending to grasp him. John stepped back as he came on, gave him a chop with the left that dazed him, and then a smash with that right on the jaw that made him turn a complete back somersault. That ended "the fight" and the darky's hopes for the fifty. When he came to, his first words were "Is I shot?"

The fight between Paddy Ryan and Frank Glover resulted just as Sullivan predicted it would, and just as Dominick McCaffrey thought it would not. Paddy was too big and burly for Glover, who hadn't science enough to avoid his rushes. A much quicker though smaller man would have a better chance with Paddy than a strong slow man like Glover, who has only strength and hard-hitting as his stock in trade as a fighter. When he is opposed by equal or superior strength his hard hitting powers cannot be brought into sufficient play. A relative of Joe Illingsworth told me the other day that Joe had taken a great fancy to a go with Ryan. I think he had better let him alone. Joe is a very hard hitter and is a good deal quicker than Glover, but he lacks the weight and strength to cope with the ex-Trojan. When Dom McCaffrey gets through with Peter Nolan he would like to get a crack at Paddy. He was slighted by Ryan in Troy, and he has a grudge against him that he would like to take out of his hide. Some time ago he tried very hard to make a match with him, but Paddy would fight no one then until he had had another chance with Sullivan. I am told that one of the conditions Parson Davies made him when he assumed his management was that there should be no more "fight no one until I have met Sullivan" nonsense, and the "meet" with Glover corroborates my information.

It was pretty hard to get McCaffrey back into the ring, but he means business whenever he gives his word, and having promised to box Nolan, he shows that he means to be in prime condition for the encounter by at once going into active training. He is now at Lew Corsor's at Far Rockaway under the care of his old mentor, Alf Lunt. Dominick has grown considerably in the past year and he will strip as pretty a picture of a man as one will want to see. Nolan, too, is training, but not as actively as Dominick. He has peculiar ideas on the subject and believes that the main thing he requires is to have his stomach and wind in good condition. He has very little superfluous flesh, and as he is but a moderate drinker he has no trouble in getting into fix. I think he and McCaffrey will make as pretty a go as has been seen in the West for a long time.

Tommy Danforth is very much dissatisfied with his bout with Jimmy Hogan of this city and they are to try it over in Parepa Hall in New York next Saturday night, Danforth's backer paying Hogan $50 to give Tommy the chance. Hogan, by the way, came to grief the other night at the hands of a young stranger from Illinois named Nearey. They were to box four rounds at Clark's but two were enough for Hogan. Nearey hit him where and when he pleased and at the end of the second round Jimmy cried "peccavi." Danforth says that he will teach Tommy Warren a thing or two about boxing when they meet at Minneapolis. If they do meet I am inclined to think the boot will be on the other leg. Nearey is so good that I think he will have no difficulty in finding backing against Warren, should the Californian come East. Talking of featherweights reminds me that Dick Hollywood, probably the cleverest bantam this country ever produced, is lying very ill at his home on Staten Island, and the chance for his recovery is very slim. Dick, in his day, whipped "Jimmy Elliott," who afterwards fought Charley Gallagher and Johnny Dwyer for the championship. When he met Dick he was but a slip of a boy of 16 and was known among his gang as "Greyback." He and J re Dunn, who killed him in Chicago, used to sell papers for Toppy Maguire, the well-known sporting writer of the Sun. Dick's greatest fights were with Johnny Keating of Cincinnati. They fought a draw at Long Island, after battling for two long hours, and met a second time at Orange Grove, below Cincinnati. Here Keating broke his arm and the victory was awarded to Hollywood. For a long time he lived in Indianapolis, where he kept a saloon and was a detective. He had aspirations to be Chief of Police there, but he failed to get the position. He is the father of the Hollywood children, now well-known in the dramatic profession.

It is sometimes interesting to see ourselves as others see us. An English friend sends me a Manchester paper which contains a long interview on American sports had by one of its staff with James Carlan of Sheffield. Jimmy, as he was called here, came to this country to beat all our sprinters. He raced with George Smith at Friendship Park, Pittsburg, in 1880, and was beaten by him after a hard contest. For quite a while he was the manager of Pastime Park, in this city, and claims to have introduced dog racing into this country. He is the author of "How to Train." and has now settled down for good in old England. Speaking of our sports he "considers the American fashion of 'collar and elbow' wrestling to be the most graceful style extant. It is generally practiced by our American cousins and is rarely seen in England. For science and elegance it beats the Cumberland method and Lancashire's 'rather cruel style' far and away. The Cumberland style has hardly been introduced into America, and the Lancashire system, after having a full trial, is already dying out. Men of English birth have held the premier position for the past seven years, ever since Bibby of Ashton, now 45 years old, once champion here, went over in 1879 and succeeded in bringing some of the leading athletes to grass." He wrestled with Muldoon for the championship and beat him, and brought to grief another great American champion in the person of Whistler, after a struggle lasting two hours. Bibby held the blue ribbon of the wrestling arena until another Englishman, Joe Acton of Stalybridge, crossed the Atlantic in 1882. Bibby challenged the newcomer to a contest at Madison Square, New York, where, after only fifteen minutes' wrestling, Acton "swept the floor" with him, throwing him on his back twice in five minutes. Since then Acton has held the championship; but another aspirant, Tom Connor of Wigan, the English champion, is now on the point of starting for America with the benevolent design of "taking it out of Joe." He has already met Acton in America in 1883, when the latter was one too many for him. Acton, who is champion of the world, and in Carlan's opinion, "the best wrestler England ever produced," is 33 years of age, stands 5 feet 5½ inches, and his weight is 9 stone 21 lbs. He is now the manager of Pastime Park, Philadelphia, holding the position vacated by Mr. Carlan.

Carlan believes that while Sullivan stands at the head of his profession in America, Smith, the present English champion, hasn't a chance with him. The next best man alive after Sullivan is Charley Mitchell, in which opinion he is supported by Arthur Chambers, the light-weight champion of America, and Mike Cleary, the middle-weight champion. He has seen Smith, and scanned him closely with the eye of the experienced trainer. He thinks he has not the agility of Sullivan, and will never stand the "electric hit" before referred to, which has won Carlan's special admiration. As to Sullivan's alleged drinking habits, he has known him intimately for three years and has never seen him the worse for liquor more than once. He is a steady man, and reports as to his vulgarity and habits of swearing are absolutely false. "Nor is he," says Carlan, "such a giant as people think. He stands 5 feet 10⅝ inches, and his fighting weight is 180 lbs., so he is by no means a G liah. I have repeatedly heard him wish that he had been born earlier, to encounter the heroes of days gone by. His regret is the impossibility of finding a worthy foeman to encounter. Herbert Slade, the Maori, whom Mace had trained until he could beat his master, was more of the giant, but he went to pieces before the 'electric hit,' just as all the others have done."

Mr. Carlan is interesting, but his talk would be more valuable if more correct. The idea that Sullivan does not weigh more than 180 pounds or that he has not drunk freely in the past times, will not go down with well-informed Americans.

THE RIVALS!

STANDING BY TRADITION.

TRUTHS!

Are wholesome material from which to draw conclusions. All the parties below who have used

Are St. Louis gentlemen of undoubted veracity; conservative business ment who do not grasp at every device of the unscrupulous who prey upon the ills of humanity with unworthy remedies, which are DEVICES OF THE HOUR. Remember that

SEEING IS BELIEVING

And these gentlemen are all residents of the city.

COMPLETELY CURED—Marvellous Results in Two Months.

ST. LOUIS, September 16, '86.—"Carbolic Smoke-Ball" Co.: Gentlemen—Two months ago, when I commenced using "Carbolic Smoke-Ball" I was going rapidly into a decline. A heavy cough, which was troublesome at night, loss of voice, appetite and general depression of spirits made me fear that my disease was even worse than bronchitis. A marked improvement followed the first use of Smoke-Ball, which at once appealed to my common sense by its direct though novel method of application. To-day I am, to all appearances, another man. Cough gone, good appetite, voice strong and general health excellent, having gained many pounds in weight. I attribute my cure solely to Carbolic Smoke-Ball, which, to say the least, has accomplished wonderful results, considering the time. Yours truly, LEON WAHL, Electrician, No. 14 S. Seventh st.

ANOTHER!

ST. LOUIS, September 13, '86.—"Carbolic Smoke-Ball" Co.: Gentlemen—I want to tell you the great good I am deriving from the use of "Carbolic Smoke-Ball," so that others may be benefitted as I have been. During the short period in which I have been using the "Smoke-Ball" for Bronchitis, my cough has decreased one-half. I now sleep soundly and am gaining flesh. Nothing could induce me to part with the "Smoke-Ball," which has and is benefiting me in every way. Yours truly,

GEO. GREEN, 2407 Prairie av.

PARTICULAR NOTICE—Being in great trouble about one year ago, not knowing what to do to help myself, I was induced by a friend of mine to call on Mrs. R. Sabine, 811 N. 15th st., for aid and advice. I called on that lady, who was a perfect stranger to me, and who after a moment's conversation disclosed to me the most secret events of my past life, my present condition and future fate. All her predictions as to the future have come true within this year much to my astonishment. Feeling myself indebted to Mrs. Sabine I publish this card as in justice due to her, and in the hope that other unfortunates may be benefited by calling their attention to this lady, who will prove herself, I feel confident, a friend in need. I will cheerfully give further particulars to all those obtaining my address from Mrs. Sabine.

THE SUGAR CROP.

Reports Indicating a Big Falling off in This Year's Yield.

CHICAGO, September 18.—A special to the Times from Little Rock, Ark., says: Reports received from the planters in the cane-growing parishes of Louisiana indicate that the sugar yield will fall about 15 per cent below that of 1885. The present crop was a very late one on account of the delayed period of germination caused by the cold, wet spring and the young shoots having to come from the more deeply rooted eye, the one nearest the surface having been killed by the severity of the winter. The month of May proved most seasonable and a much better stand was obtained than was at first expected. The rains of May and June caused the cane to sucker more than is usual, giving as good a stand in some parishes as in 1885, though the stubble crop did not turn out so well.

A DANGEROUS GANG.

The Immoralities of the Salvation Army of New Brunswick, N. J.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, September 18.—The arrest of Lewis Kern, a color-bearer of the Salvation Army, in New Brunswick, N. J., for alleged immoralities has been the means of making exposures which involve two more members of the army there and arousing the community to the necessity of urging a speedy and searching inquiry into the methods of conducting the barracks in that town. Hannah Negley, the victim, is a half-witted young girl who resides with her mother. She was persuaded to join the army and her ruin followed soon afterwards. Hannah Negley was found by the POST-DISPATCH correspondent at her mother's house, 202 Burnett street, New Brunswick, yesterday. When told by her mother to tell her story frankly and truthfully, keeping nothing back, she said:

"I was a member of the Salvation Army a few weeks ago. Early last spring Lewis Kern, who is the color-bearer of the army, asked me to come to his house after the meeting had broken up. Mrs. Kern also invited me and I went. They lived at No. 8 New street. When they reached the house Mrs. Kern forced my clothing off and Kern assaulted me, promising to support me if my mother drove me from home. I did not tell mother anything about it, but asked Mrs. Kern if my conduct was sinful. 'No,' replied Kern's wife, 'not if we love one another.' I believed her and went to their house often. She did not object to the behavior of her husband, who also assured me that no good soldier could sin. While I was at Kern's house one night, Alexander Williams, who, with his wife, are members of the army, attempted to assault me, and assaulted Kern's wife before my eyes and Kern assaulted me. I found that Kern had accomplished my ruin and told him of it. He said he would get Williams to give me medicine. Williams gave me a drug and said that he was the only man in New Brunswick who could get it, as he had a friend who was a clerk in a pharmacy."

The mother of Hannah, a hard-working and respectable German woman, 45 years old, said: "When I found this thing out I told Hannah to enter complaint before Overseer Wright, which resulted in the arrest of Kern. Mrs. Schaffer, who lives at 5 New street, next door to the house formerly occupied by Kern, told Mrs. Baker, who lives on the lower floor of this house, that it was a shame that I did not have Kern arrested last spring, when he enticed Hannah into his house. But Mrs. Baker did not want to wound my feelings, and only told me recently. Mrs. Schaffer will tell what she knows at the trial."

"Well," continued the girl, "a young man in a dark blue uniform, and carrying a black satchel, came here yesterday in company with Israel Buggee, one of the leading members of the army. The young man was a commissioner for the army of the United States, and I think his name is Frank Smith. 'You should drop this case,' said Smith to mother. 'You mind your business,' said mother. 'I intend to let the world know what the Salvation Army is.' Then Buggee said to me: 'Why didn't you keep your mouth shut and not bring disgrace on the Army; you can't get any money out of Kern.' Finding that mother and I intended to push the case they circulated the story neither Kern nor myself was a member of the army." In all probability Howard Macsheny will champion the weak-minded girl's cause at hearing before the Recorder, who will issue subpœnas to-day to fully twenty witnesses. The case has developed sufficient facts to warrant the rearrest of Kern and an increase of his bail, and also the arrest of Mrs. Kern and Alexander Williams for alleged conspiracy to ruin the girl. The names of other prominent members of the Salvation Army will be revealed during the progress of the examination, the date for which has not yet been announced.

MME. DE ROTHSCHILD.

THE DISTINGUISHED LADY WHOM ALL FRANCE DELIGHTED TO HONOR.

The Baroness' Task in Securing Social Recognition from the Oldest French Nobility—Intimacy of the Deceased and Queen Marie Amele—The Castle of the Rothschilds—A Veritable Store-House of Artistic Treasures—The Generosity and Good Deeds of Mme. de Rothschild.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, September 18.—The Paris correspondent of the WORLD, under date of September 4, writes as follows: The other day I received the following card:

"Vous etes prie d'assister aux convoi et enterrement de Madame La Baronne James De Rothschild, decedee le 1e. Septembre, dans sa quatre—vingt deuzieme annee, a son chateau de Boulogne-Sur-Seine, qui se feront le Vendredi, 3 courant, a onze heures et demi precises. On se reunira 19 Rue Lafitte. De la part de MM. les Barons Alphonse, Gustave et Edmond de Rothschild, ses fils; de MM. les Barons Arthur, Edouard, Robert, James, Maurice et Henri de Rothschild, ses petits.fils; de M. le Baron Albert de Rothschild, de MM. Maurice Ephrusse et Leon Lambert, ses petits gendres."

The name of Rothschilds, in all countries, is the synonym for honor and generosity, and no name in Europe has a popularity so great and so well merited. Liberal patrons of arts and sciences, the Rothschilds have contributed more than all others to progress in the nineteenth century, and, as if to justify the possession of immense wealth, their charity is unlimited. The Rothschilds in France occupy a social position even higher than that of the English branch of the family. Not only are they considered the equals of the oldest French nobility, but they are among those whom the Faubourg Saint Germain "delighted to honor." To prove the truth of what I have said, last spring when the Duc d'Aumale gave a dinner at Chantilly, for the Grande Duchesse Vladimir of Russia, he placed the Grand Duchess on his right and the Baroness Gustave de Rothschild on his left. When the dinner was finished he offered his arm to Mme. de Rothschild.

THE ROTHSCHILDS

owe all this social distinction to the woman whose death was announced at the beginning of this letter. The task of Baroness James was not an easy one, for she was obliged to take down, stone by stone, the high wall behind which the French nobility had placed itself. Granddaughter of Mayer Anselme, the founder of the house of Rothschild, and daughter of Solomon, the founder of the Vienna branch, she married her father's brother Jacob. At the beginning of this century he was made Baron James de Rothschild, and in 1820 he established the banking-house in Paris. From 1822 until his death in 1868, Baron James was the Austrian Consul-General. Although from his relations with the Jockey Club he was able to attract many of its members to his house, the French grandes dames would not forget his harsh accent and somewhat careless manners. But the tact and talent of his wife at last conquered the proud faubourg. Queen Marie Amele herself became the attached friend of Baroness James, and together they distributed alms and administered to the suffering. The banker was the financial adviser of the "Citizen King," and from him received many decorations. When Louis Philippe died Mme. de Rothschild and family put on garments of mourning. Under the empire she resisted all entreaties to appear at court, but her husband was less faithful, and he transferred his interests from Louis Philippe to the Emperor. The Orleans family never lost opportunity to show their appreciation of Mme. de Rothschild's devotion. When Princess Amelie, now Duchess de Braganza, was presented to society her first appearance was made at the fetes given at Ferrieres.

THIS CASTLE OF THE ROTHSCHILDS

has been described as often as Versailles, so it is hardly necessary to say that it contains saloons and reception-rooms filled with furniture made by Boule, hangings of embossed leather, silken Watteau tapestries, paintings of Velasquez, Guido, Rembrandt, Reynolds; chefs d'oeuvres of Della Robbia and Bernard Palissy; wonderful specimens of old saxe; a dancing-hall with 1,100 gas lights; walls covered with magnificent gobelins, etc., etc. During fifty years the salon of Baroness James was a rendezvous for the most celebrated people of the entire world. The charming simplicity of her manners, her taste for the beautiful and the noble use she made of her fortune won the hearts of all, and to-day she is regretted by Israelite and Gentile, as the angel of charity in the family to which, by birth and marriage, she belonged. In the world of art and letters, Mme. James de Rothschild was at home, and for painting her talent was unquestionable. Her daughter, Charlotte, who married the Baron Nathaniel, inherits this taste and is one of the best water color artists in France. The painters of Louis Philippe's reign were friends of the dowager baroness. Among them were Ingres and Vernet. The former painted a portrait of her, which now hangs at Ferrieres, next to Flandrius' picture of her husband. It was she who first made collections of bibelots, pictures, etc. Her houses are museums, and when, a few years ago, fears were entertained of her eyesight, her sorrow was that she might not be able to see the beautiful objects surrounding her, especially the wonderful collection of Sevres porcelain. Happily the cataract was removed, and until her death the eyes of Mme. de Rothschild beheld these artistic treasures. Talleyrand, Humboldt, Balzac, Eugene Sue, Meyerbeer, Thiers and Paradol were her guests. Rossini was a trusted friend, and by a strange coincidence he and Baron James died within a few hours of each other. One evening Mme. Rossini sent from the bedside of her dying husband to ask for news of M. de Rothschild. The baroness wrote on the back of the visiting card

ONE WORD—"DEAD."

The next day the card was returned to Mme. de Rothschild, and underneath the word "dead," written by her, was the same word in the handwriting of Mme. Rossini. What a world of meaning for each in that simple monosyllable! Mme. de Rothschild had suffered intensely the past year from gout. For days and nights she had not been able to leave her arm chair, and life to her was desirable only for the good she might do. Ferrieres was too gay since the death of her husband, and most of her time was spent at the chateau of Boulogne. This property was bought from the celebrated Prefect of Police, Count Real, by the Baron James. Napoleon had made Real a Count in 1808, and to retain him always near Paris bought, for 500,000 francs, this castle which is just outside the city. There, on the first day of September, surrounded by her children and servants, Mme. de Rothschild passed away. The daughters closed their mother's eyes and then, according to the Hebrew rites, she was dressed for the grave. The sons, Alphonse, Gustave and Edmond, put upon her feet the shoes of white linen, placed her on an iron bedstead and lighted a lamp, which will burn beside this bed night and day for a year. The servants of the castle, more than sixty in number, were very much effected, especially a valet de chambre who had been in the service of the baroness more than thirty years. The day following, when the body of Mme. de Rothschild was brought to her Paris home in the Rue Lafitte more than 10,000 people signed their names on the registers placed at the door. Thousands followed her to the tomb in Pere la Chaise, and her last wishes, that flowers and speeches should be omitted from her funeral ceremonies, were respected. A few remarks were made by the Chief Rabbi of Israel in Paris, Zadoc Kahn. It is he whose more recent writings will dispel any prejudice caused by Drumont's scurrilous book, "La France Juive."

There was little need for words to recall the good deeds of Mme. De Rothschild, when the faces of those who followed her to the final resting place expressed such sincere grief. She yet lives, for in her will she remembered every benevolent association with which she had been connected. Not one of her private charities was omitted, and no distinction was made between Jews and Gentiles, Catholics and Protestants—all were equal in the sight of this woman who loved to do good; this woman, "Mighty before the Lord."

WHO IS WHIPPED?

The Relative Benefit to the Republicans, Democrats and Prohibitionists.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

AUGUSTA, Me., September 18.—As the smoke of the recent political battle clears away, those who took no active part in it are devoting themselves to the consideration of the question, "Who is whipped?" No such conundrum troubles the fighters in either the Republican, the Democratic or the Prohibition ranks. They are all well satisfied, or profess to be, with the outcome of the struggle. Each of them whipped. The Republicans point to a majority of 14,000 and say that answers the question. The cold water men now allege that they never did look for more than 4,000 votes anyhow, and that the doubling of the Prohibition vote for President, in 1884, and the trebling of that for Governor, is sufficient indication that their movement is a growing one. It must have been a sanguine Democrat, indeed, who looked for Democratic victory in Maine except through the interposition of Providence, and as Providence did not interpose, and as Prohibitionists did not materialize in great throngs, the Democracy is content to have maintained its own. With all the fighters thus apparently satisfied with the outcome of the encounter, it would seem to be almost an attempt at the disturbance of domestic felicity for outsiders to endeavor to determine for themselves who landed on top. There is the good excuse for such an inquiry, however, that the recent election in Maine was just as much, more perhaps, national than it was a local affair. The one thing that attracted special attention to it was the fact that Blaine had rolled up his sleeves and pitched in in such vigorous fashion; and what the people are anxious to know is or was he defeated? Will the result in Maine help or hurt his candidacy in 1888? With so many elements in the struggle and with so many false and contradictory deductions drawn from comparison of this with former elections, in which the elements were not the same, it has been difficult for an unprejudiced man to arrive at a final and satisfactory conclusion. It may be said now, however, that the belief is gaining ground among men in each of the camps who are willing to throw aside their preferences and prejudices that Blaine has undoubtedly scored a victory. It was, of course, unreasonable to look for as large a vote in the State as was polled in the Presidential election of 1884. Consequently it would have been unreasonable to look for the 20,000 Republican majority for that year. Neither would it have been fair to look for a repetition of the 15,000 Republican plurality given in the gubernatorial election of that year, because Maine Republicans were almost as much worked up over that campaign as they were over the Presidential election that followed. It may be argued that in both elections of that year the Democracy was very much better equipped than in the one just past. It is true that then they had more money, more speakers and more enthusiasm. It is also true that there did not then exist the disaffection in the Democratic ranks since caused by the

DID BLAINE WIN A VICTORY,

in regard to offices, and by Secretary Bayard's management of the fisheries question. This feeling of disaffection was looked to aid the Republicans this year, and it undoubtedly did to some extent. But just as surely, the aid coming from that cause was balanced and more than balanced by the drafts made upon the Republican ranks, this time by Neal Dow, Gov. St. John and their supporters. Four thousand prohibition votes, as against 2,100 in November, 1884, and 1,100 in September, 1884, was calculated to make a gap in the Republican vote, if it had not been filled up by Republicans who were fond of Mr. Blaine, and averse to cutting the Republican throat with the prohibition knife, or been neutralized by Democratic disaffection. It may be remarked, incidentally, that the increase of the prohibition vote over 1884 is not conclusive evidence of the growth of the party, because the vote fluctuates from year to year. In 1869, for instance, there was a prohibition vote for Governor of 4,700.

BLAINE IS UNQUESTIONABLY WELL SATISFIED

with the result, and Joe Manley is exuberant. They claim it to be a slap in the face to the small circle of anti-Blaineites and the comparatively large circle of Prohibitionists, who had been confidently prophesying that if the Republican party was not defeated this time, its big majority would be almost annihilated. With it is pretty definitely settled then that Blaine will go into the National Convention of 1888 with the prestige of still being boss of his own State. The next troublesome thing he will have to face, in the event of his securing the nomination, will be the possible nationalization of the Prohibition fight. The third party men in Maine to-day are called cranks by their former associates. But the crank of to-day is not infrequently the leader in to-morrow's reform. There are many other thousands of Prohibitionists in the Republican ranks in Maine who may be tempted from their allegiance if it be determined to make a national fight for prohibition, so that even Maine may be a doubtful State in 1888. If the movement should become sufficiently big to make Maine doubtful, Mr. Blaine would probably be compelled to bid a mournful farewell to New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and other States, and to his long cherished hope of bossing the Nation.

UNDER WEEPING SKIES.

Funeral of the Late James Tiernan This Morning.

When the procession bearing the body of the late James Tiernan left the residence, No. 1010 South Eighth street, at 10 o'clock, a slight rain was falling, but the march was continued to Chouteau, thence to Seventh, Labadie, and at last to the Church of the Annunciation, Vicar-General Brady pastor. Postlewaite's Band, playing Mendelssohn's "Dead March," headed the line, followed by seventy of the Knights of St. Patrick, 175 of the employes of the firm of Woodward & Tiernan and a delegation from the Printers' Union. On arriving at the church the Knights of St. Patrick filed on the north side of the entrance, the employes on the south, and between the two lines the casket was borne into the church by the pall-bearers J. G. Prather, William Hyde, J. M. Sellers, Patrick McGrath, J. H. Fanning, Frank Ryan, John H. Tracy, Isaac Taylor. As the mourners moved down the aisle a quartette composed of Messrs. E. S. Miller, G. A. Kissell, tenors, and Joseph Saler, Carl Froelich, bassos, rendered psalm 50 as a miserere. A large crowd pushed their way into the church or congregated outside, but everything passed off in an orderly manner, Sergt. O'Malley having charge of the police and Undertaker Lynch of the obsequies.

The floral offerings were very rich and striking, especially so being a printing press made of blossoms and ferns, such a mass of flowers that four young men were necessary to its proper handling. Another lovely offering was a locomotive worked in colored flowers upon a broad bank of white immortelles, the gift being from the Wabash and Missouri Pacific employes who testified their affection by inscribing the offering with the simple words, "We all loved him." From the Printers' Union came a lovely cross and crown of cut flowers, and other friends sent expressive remembrances which shed their perfume through the dim auditorium. After a sermon on the conservative influence of death and a brief review of the deceased's life, the remains were taken to Bellefontaine Cemetery.

PREPARING FOR CROOKS.

Extra Detectives and Patrolmen Sworn in for the Festivities.

The police are making special preparations for the fall festivities and the usual gang of crooks that infest the city on such occasions. Thieves are like everybody else, they always go where they think they can make the most money. Whenever there is anything unusual going on in a city that attracts strangers to the place, crooks are bound to be among the first arrivals, and no class labor more energetically than they while the attraction lasts. St. Louis, on account of the numerous attractions here this fall is bound to have a corner in the light-fingered gentry, and the Police Department will be kept busy weeding them out and running them in. First there will be the Knight Templar Conclave next week to attract the crooks; then there will be the Trades' Parade, Veiled Prophets' Pageant, Fair, Illumination and Exposition, all of which are the best possible attractions for thieves as they bring crowds of strangers to the city. Pick-pockets, burglars, hotel-thieves, three-card monte and confidence men are the classes of crooks mostly brought to the city by affairs of this kind, but there will be birds of all feather here and in numbers too. To keep them away is utterly impossible and the Police Department do the next best thing—spot them as soon as possible and run them in. If they have turned a trick before being captured, and a case can be made against them, one is made, otherwise they are brought up into the police court and given hours to leave the city. The number of crooks who are arrested during affairs of this kind is remarkable. Last Fair week there were eighty-five run in by the Detective Department alone, and every one of them was taken while attempting to "turn a trick." With a few exceptions the men were all given hours and left town, the remaining few being sent to the Work-house or elsewhere on some conviction.

Pickpockets come here to operate in the crowds, which are so dense as to render the picking of pockets quite easy and very profitable, too, as strangers usually carry large amounts of money in their pockets. The hotel sneaks secure rooms in a hotel as a rule, and then manage to go through the rooms of other guests, usually reaping very rich harvests. Burglars get in their work while people are away from their homes watching the processions and other attractions that are going on in the evenings. Three-card monte and confidence men do not come in large numbers, but there is always a goodly supply on hand. They confine their attentions pretty much to the confiding ruralist and Fair week is consequently their greatest time.

IT IS EXPECTED

that the Knight Templar conclave next week will bring more thieves to the city than it has ever contained before, and they are apt to remain until after the Fair and all the fall festivities are over, if the police will permit them to do so. The latter are making special preparations, however, to give them their personal attention. To-day thirteen patrolmen, who have been walking beats, were instructed to don citizen's clothes and were added to the regular detective force, which ordinarily consists of Chief O'Neill and twelve men. A new man will be sent out with each of the old men and the force will be kept this way until the close of the fall attractions. They have instructions to "run in" crooks wherever they find them. In addition to the regular police force, one hundred special officers, were sworn in by Mayor Francis this morning and will be sent out on beats to-night. The processions, Fair, etc., require the enlarging of the force, as men will be needed for these places in addition to the men on the beats. The police will all have to do extra duty during this gala period, working about eighteen hours a day, and none of them will be given the holiday they are entitled to once a month.

CHILDREN'S CONCERT.

Nearly Eighteen Hundred Children Join in Joyous Chorus at Music Hall.

Music Hall at Exposition building is crowded this afternoon. At 1 o'clock the pupils of the public schools began to arrive at Exposition Hall. A reception committee escorted the children from the door to the stage, which had been especially prepared. A platform had been built leading up to the organ and leaving a large space in front of the stage for the choristers. The United States Cavalry Depot band took places in the orchestra space just in front of the stage. The auditorium was crowded with a fashionable audience which loudly applauded the grand chorus in which nearly 1,800 trained voices, joined. The children's first chorus was Steinitz Festine march followed by "Praise the Lord," "America" and closing the programme with "The Star Spangled Banner." Prof. Froelich led and Prof. Robyn presided at the organ. The idea of a children's concert originated with Mr. Will J. Thornton, who is entitled to the credit of planning the concert, and who was largely instrumental in making it a grand success. Sig. Liberati, the cornetist, appeared three times during the concert and was loudly applauded and encored on each appearance.

FIGHT AT A DANCE.

Jealous Rivalry Leads to a Row—East St. Louis Notes.

At a dance given in the First Ward last night a row occurred which might have culminated seriously but for the opportune arrival of the police. John Clute and Frank Wuersch claimed the hand of a young lady for a dance and hot words were passed. Other parties, fearing they would come to blows, led them out of the house, but the quarrel was renewed on the street, and both got into such an uncontrollable rage that despite the efforts of mutual friends to restrain them, they clinched and Wuersch drew a razor. Clute then let go his hold on him and had just drawn his revolver when a couple of officers came up and took them both into custody. Wuersch on the arrival of the officers threw away his razor and Clute's revolver was taken from him. Wuersch was fined $3 and costs this morning and Clute assessed $25.

STRUCK WITH A CHAIR.

C. H. Williams, a citizen of the First Ward, went into the barber shop of S. F. Wade in the First Ward last night for the purpose of getting a shave, and when he was lying back in the chair he and Wade became involved in a dispute which originated in the discussion of politics. Both became very excited, and Wade, enraged at his failure to make Williams think the same as he did, picked up a chair and dealt him a blow on the head. Williams swore out a warrant this morning for Wade's arrest on a charge of assault and battery.

WORKING A TRAIN.

Several sneak thieves got on board the Chicago & Alton train this morning at Venice and stole a number of bundles from the passengers. Several of the passengers discovered their losses as the train was ascending the bridge approach and notified the conductor. One of the thieves jumped from the train and clambered over the fencing into the wagon roadway and escaped. Another was arrested when the train reached the Main Street Depot.

Mr. James Chapman died last evening. His funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon from his late residence on Division street, near Rock road, to St. Peter's Cemetery. Mr. Chapman was a member of the Odd Fellows, and the local lodge will have charge of the funeral.

Mr. C. R. Stinde and family will return to their city home, 3032 Lucas avenue, within a week.

MISSOURI GRAND COMMANDERY.

The Chief Knight Templar Organization of the State and Its History.

On the evening of September 17, 1847, St. Louis Commandery No. 1 was organized in this city. It was the first Knight Templar body ever organized in Missouri. After it were formed Weston Commandery of Weston in 1853, and Lexington Commandery of Lexington, Mo., in 1856. In 1859 it was proposed to organize a Grand Commandery for the general government of Knights Templars throughout the State. At this time St. Louis Commandery had a membership of forty-eight, Weston Commandery a membership of ninety-one, and Lexington Commandery a membership of forty-six. Benjamin M. Runyan was Eminent Commander of St. Louis; George W. Belt of Weston, and R. M. Henderson of Lexington Commandery. On Tuesday, May 22, 1860, the representatives of these three commanderies assembled pursuant to agreement, in the asylum of St. Louis Commandery in this city. There were present Benjamin M. Runyan, J. W. Crane, W. N. Loker, J. D. Daggett, A. Stelle, A. B. Pratte, G. F. Gouley, A. O'Sullivan, Jos. Foster, W. C. Watts, Oscar F. Potter and W. R. Davis of St. Louis; Geo. W. Belt, L. R. Geo. W. Belt, Grand Commander, 1860.

F. M. Tufts, Grand Commander, 1871.

On motion of A. O'Sullivan (afterward one of the most prominent Masons in the State) Benj. M. Runyan was invited to preside, and L. R. Ringo was appointed Recorder of the convention.

Geo. W. Belt presented the warrant of Benjamin B. French, Grand Master of Knights Templars for the United States, dated December 5, 1859, for the formation of a Grand Commandery, "such State Grand Commandery when so formed to make due return and report to me of all their official doings and proceedings in the premises and make a like return to our Very Eminent Grand Recorder.''

John Ure, Grand Commander, 1873.

The Committee on Credentials reported as accredited the following delegates: Messrs. Runyan, Crane, Loker and O'Sullivan of St. Louis; Belt, Ringo and Culver of Weston; Henderson, Hoy and Flynt of Lexington. A Committee on Constitution was appointed, consisting of Messrs. Belt, Henderson and Crane, and the Convocation adjourned for the day.

THE FIRST OFFICERS.

On the following day the Committee on Constitution reported and its report was adopted. The following officers were then chosen: Geo. W. Belt, Right Eminent Grand Commander; R. M. Henderson, Very Eminent Deputy Commander; J. W. Crane, Eminent Grand Generalissimo; Henry Flynt, Eminent Grand Captain General; L. R. Ringo, Eminent Grand Prelate; W. N. Loker, Eminent Grand Senior Warden; Geo. W. Culver, Eminent Grand Junior Warden; J. D. Daggett, Eminent Grand Treasurer; E. G. Heriot, Eminent Grand Recorder; O. F. On motion of W. N. Loker it was resolved that the Grand Commandery be opened Wednesday, May 23.

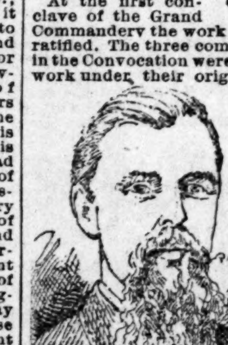
C. J. Atkins, Grand Commander, 1878.

THE FIRST CONCLAVE.

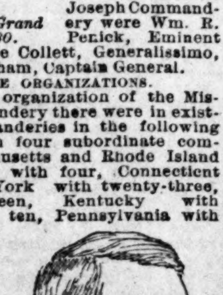
At the first conclave of the Grand Commandery the work of the Convocation was ratified. The three commanderies represented in the Convocation were authorized to continue work under their original charters. An application for a charter was received from St. Joseph Commandery. It was referred to a committee consisting of Messrs. Crane, Henderson and Hoyt. That committee reported in favor of the admittance of St. Joseph Commandery and the report was adopted. The new Commandery brought in sixteen more men, making the total Knight Templar membership in the State 201. The officers of St. Joseph Commandery were Wm. R. Penick, Eminent Commander; George Collett, Generalissimo, and W. A. Cunningham, Captain General.



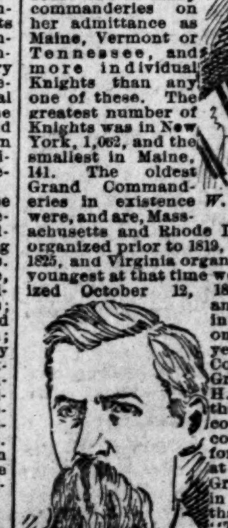
Sol. E. Waggoner, Grand Commander, 1880.

OTHER STATE ORGANIZATIONS.

At the time of the organization of the Missouri Grand Commandery there were in existence Grand Commanderies in the following States: Maine with four subordinate commanderies, Massachusetts and Rhode Island with nine, Vermont with four, Connecticut with six, New York with twenty-three, Ohio with fifteen, Kentucky with ten, Virginia with ten, Pennsylvania with nineteen, Indiana with seven, Texas with six, Michigan with five, Illinois with five, Mississippi with five, California with six and Tennessee with four; total, with Missouri, 142. Missouri had as many commanderies on her admittance as Maine, Vermont or Tennessee, and more individual Knights than any one of these. The greatest number of Knights was in New York, 1,062, and the smallest in Maine, 141. The oldest Grand Commanderies in existence were, and are, Massachusetts and Rhode Island and New York, organized prior to 1819, Vermont organized in 1825, and Virginia organized prior to 1826. The youngest at that time were Tennessee, organized October 12, 1859, with 165 men, and California organized in August, 1858, the second conclave. During the year succeeding the first Conclave of the Missouri Grand Commandery G. H. C. Melody, one of the founders of the commandery, died. The commandery assembled for its second Conclave at Weston May 1, 1861. Grand Commander Belt, in his annual address on that occasion, said: "The difficulties incident to the early formation or organization of all institutions have, to some extent, embarrassed my action, but without in any instance discouraging me in my hope that the Grand Commandery of Missouri will ere long take rank amongst other State commanderies inferior to none. The knightly zeal which has caused so many venerable and courteous Knights to join with us upon this interesting occasion is to me satisfactory evidence that our glorious order is cherished in the hearts of the Knights of Missouri with the same exalted devotion that animated the patient and persevering pilgrims, the courageous warriors and the subdued penitents, who, in bygone eras, with sandals, staff and scrip, or sword and buckler, or emblems of faith and humility, sought to rekindle their holy enthusiasm, either in hostile dominions or at the tomb of our revered Lord and Saviour.''



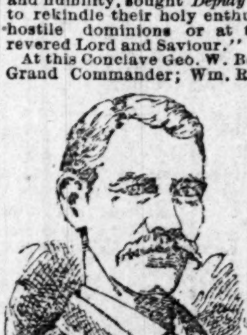
W. J. Terrell, Grand Commander, 1882.



Jos. S. Browne, Grand Commander.

Eli H. Mix, Deputy Grand Commander.

At this Conclave Geo. W. Belt was re-elected Grand Commander; Wm. R. Penick, Deputy Grand Commander; Jacob C. Reinhard, Grand Generalissimo, and J. W. Crane, Grand Captain General. The number of commanderies in the State at this time was four, but Kansas City and Westport were each talking of organizing a commandery. The membership in Weston Commandery had fallen off in the first year from ninety-one to seventy-four, and Lexington from forty-six to thirty-nine, while St. Louis had increased from forty-eight to fifty-two and St. Joseph from sixteen to nineteen.

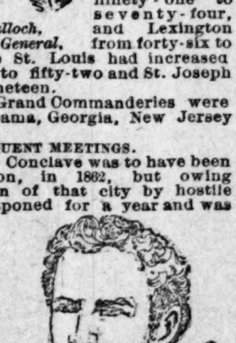


Robert McCulloch, Grand Captain-General,

During the year Grand Commanderies were organized in Alabama, Georgia, New Jersey and Wisconsin.

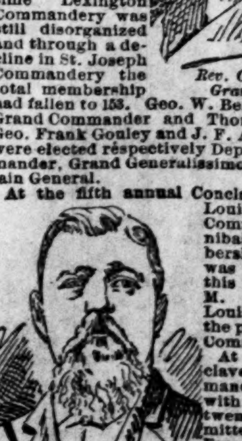
SUBSEQUENT MEETINGS.

The third annual Conclave was to have been held at Lexington, in 1862, but owing to the devastation of that city by hostile troops it was postponed for a year and was finally held in St. Louis, May 18, 1862. At this time Lexington Commandery had fallen out and no new commandery had joined so the total membership had fallen to 161. Geo. W. Belt was again elected Grand Commander. The fourth Conclave was held in St. Louis, May 16, 1864. At this time Lexington Commandery was still disorganized and through a decline in St. Joseph Commandery the total membership had fallen to 153. Geo. W. Belt was re-elected Grand Commander and Thomas S. Wannall, Geo. Frank Gouley and J. F. Aglar of St. Louis were elected respectively Deputy Grand Commander, Grand Generalissimo and Grand Captain General.



Rev. C. C. Wood, Grand Prelate.

At the fifth annual Conclave, held in St. Louis, Excalibur Commandery of Hannibal, with a membership of fourteen, was admitted. At this Conclave Thos. M. Wannall of St. Louis was elevated to the position of Grand Commander. At the sixth Conclave Liberty Commandery of Liberty, with a membership of twenty-three, was admitted, and Geo. Frank Gouley was elected Grand Commander.



Wm. H. Stone, Grand Senior Warden.

ADMITTED TO MEMBERSHIP.

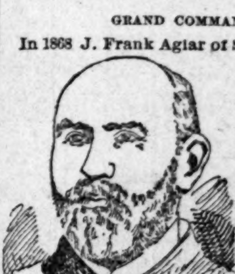
At the seventh Conclave, held in St. Louis October 7, 1867, Emanuel Commandery of Macon City, Jno. D. Vincil, Eminent Commander, and Ivanhoe Commandery of St. Louis, T.M. Wannall, Eminent Commander, with a membership respectively of sixteen and twenty-three, were admitted. During the preceding year Benjamin M. Runyan, the first Grand Captain-General; Anthony O'Sullivan, the first Grand Recorder, and J. W. Crane, the first Grand Generalissimo, had died. St. Joseph Commandery had reorganized under the name of Hugh de Payens Commandery.

In 1868 the Grand Encampment held its Triennial Conclave in St. Louis, giving such an impetus to the Templar organization in the State that, from a total membership of 300 in October, 1867, it increased to 413 in October, 1868. October 6, 1868, Belt Commandery of Platte City and Kansas City Commandery were chartered.

C. C. Allen, Grand Junior Warden.

GRAND COMMANDERS.

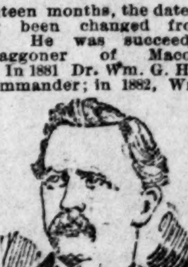
In 1868 J. Frank Aglar of St. Louis was elected Grand Commander. He served two terms and was succeeded by John D. Vincil. In 1871 Francis M. Tufts of St. Joseph was elected Grand Commander; in 1872, Oren Root, Jr.; in 1873, John Ure of Hannibal; in 1874, Sam. A. Gilbert; in 1875, Jno. C. Bloomfield of St. Louis; in 1876, Fred B. Young; in 1877, John R. Parson of St. Louis; in 1878, C. J. Atkins of Louisiana. Grand Commander Atkins served for eighteen months, the date of convocation having been changed from October to May. He was succeeded by Sol. E. Waggoner of Macon, now of Kansas City. In 1881 Dr. Wm. G. Hall was elected Grand Commander; in 1882, Wm. J. Terrell of Harrisonville; in 1883, F. J. Tygard of Butler; in 1884, Jno. A. Sloan of St. Louis; in 1885, Geo. F. Rogers.



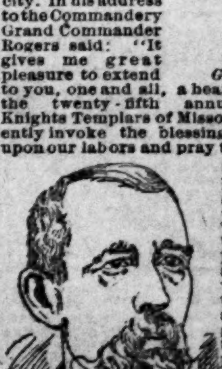
Wm. P. Mullen, Grand Treasurer.

THE TWENTY-FIFTH CONCLAVE.

On Tuesday, May 11, 1886, the twenty-fifth annual Conclave was held in Masonic Hall in this city. In his address to the Commandery Grand Commander Rogers said: "It gives me great pleasure to extend to you, one and all, a hearty welcome to this, the twenty-fifth annual Conlave of Knights Templars of Missouri. Let us reverently invoke the blessings of Almighty God upon our labors and pray that he may vouchsafe to give us his protecting care and guidance in all the duties that may devolve upon us, and that, amid all the perplexities that beset our paths, He will make plain to us the way of duty and right. I congratulate you upon the unusual prosperity that has attended our order in Missouri during the past year. Peace and harmony, without a single note of discord, prevail throughout our jurisdiction. Thus may it long continue, and may we, as the years pass by, become more firmly cemented together—more strongly bound in the ties of brotherly love and affection.''



Wm. H. Mayo, Grand Recorder.



Jno. H. Brown, Grand Standard-Bearer.

The report of the Grand Recorder showed that there were in the jurisdiction of the Grand Commandery in May last forty-seven commanderies, with an aggregate membership of 2,571. The largest membership was that of St. Louis Commandery, 212, and the smallest that of Richmond Commandery, chartered May 11, 1886, which reported no membership.

NATIONAL STATISTICS.

Reports from all the States in the Union gave the aggregate membership of the order of Knights Templars in the United States as 68,500. Of this number New York contributed 7,562; Pennsylvania, 7,174; Massachusetts and Rhode Island, 6,684; Illinois, 6,299, and Ohio, 5,529. The smallest membership was that of Alabama, 209. The number of subordinate commanderies shown by the reports was 898, of which Indiana contributed 182; Pennsylvania, 60; Illinois, 56, and New York, 55.

Seymour Hoyt, Grand Sword-Bearer.

He received the eighteenth degree in the A. and A. S. Rite in 1867, and the thirty-second degree in 1879 from Illustrious Brother Albert G. Mackey. He is the present Treasurer and collector for four Masonic bodies in St. Joseph, viz.: St. Joseph Lodge, St. Joseph Chapter, St. Joseph Council and St. Joseph Commandery. He is Grand Representative from the following jurisdictions near the similar bodies in Missouri, viz., Grand Lodge of Dakota, Grand Chapter of New Jersey, Grand Chapter of Ohio, Grand Council of Connecticut, Grand Council of Michigan and the Grand Commandery of Nebraska. He was elected presiding officer of the Masonic grand bodies of Missouri as follows: October 10, 1873, Grand Master of Grand Council, R. and S. Masters; October 5, 1876, Grand High Priest of the Grand R. A. Chapter; October 16, 1879, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge; May 11, 1886, Grand Commander of the Grand Commandery. He is the only member of the craft ever elected to the four positions.

E. H. MIX,

Deputy Grand Commander of Missouri, was made a Master Mason in 1863 in the State of Wisconsin. He was knighted in 1864, in the State of Pennsylvania. He was a charter member and Prelate of St. Aldemar No. 18, stationed at St. Louis, and a charter member of Tancred No. 25, stationed at Moberly, Mo. He is past Eminent Commander and has been Recorder of that commandery since 1878.

THE MYSTIC SHRINE.

History of the Ancient Order—Moolah Temple of St. Louis.

The Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine was instituted by the Mohammedan Kalif Alee, the cousin-german and son-in-law of the Prophet Mohammed in the year of the Hegira 25 (A. D. 656), at Mekkah, in Arabia, as an Inquisition or Vigilance Committeeman to dispense justice and execute punishment upon criminals who escaped their just deserts through the tardiness of the courts, and also to promote religious toleration among cultured men of all nations. Its membership in all countries now includes Christians, Israelites, Moslems, and men in high positions of learning and of power. One of the most noted patrons of the order is the Khedive of Egypt. Among the modern promoters of the order in Europe was Herr Weishaupt, a Rosicrucian and Professor of Law in the University of Ingoldstadt, Bavaria. This distinguished scholar opened a Temple May 1, 1776, the members of which were styled Illuminati, and they exercised a profound influence before and after the French Revolution. From this parent stem the temples were spread throughout Europe, recording such names as Frederick the Great, Mirabeau, Duke of Orleans, Gautier, Spinoza, Kant, Lord Bacon, and many literary, scientific and professional men on their rolls. The leading spirits of the order are found in every circle of the higher classes, even including the functionaries of the Government, and they exert an influence in proportion to their position, dangerous to the vicious and beneficial to the good.

THE AMERICAN ORDER.

The Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine in America does not advocate Mohammedanism as a sect, but inculcates the same respect to Deity here as in Arabia and elsewhere, hence the secret of its profound grasp on the intellect and heart of all cultured people. The ritual in use is a translation from the original Arabic, found preserved in the archives of the order at Aleppo, Syria, whence it was brought to Algiers, thence to Cairo, and to London by Rizk Allah Hassoon Effendee, a celebrated author and historian. The ritual was also translated into the Italian language by the great Orientalist Luigi Maracci and a temple constituted which found active colaborers in the persons of Count Cavour, Mazzini, Garibaldi and King Victor Emanuel. In making the present version the translator has had the benefit of the work of Alvasafi, of Maracci and of Hassoon. The rendering is literal where the idiom permitted except where a local reference required the substitution of American for Oriental names of cities. The work has been perfected under the supervision of Dr. Walter M. Fleming, Thirty-third degree, Sovereign Grand Inspector General A. A. S. Rite and Past Commander of Columbian Commandery No. 1, Knights Templars, New York, who received his instructions and authority from Rizk Allah Hassoon Effendee who had competent jurisdiction for America.

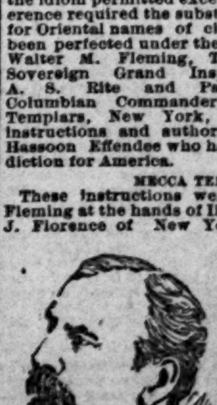
MECCA TEMPLE.

These instructions were received by Dr. Fleming at the hands of Illustrious Noble Wm. J. Florence of New York, direct from Cairo, Egypt, in 1870, and in November 1871, assisted by Wm. J. Florence, A. L. Rawson, the translator; Edward Eddy (deceased), Sherwood C. Campbell, Oswald Merle d'Aubigne (deceased), Jas. S. Chappell (deceased), John A. Moore (deceased), Geo. W. Miller, Wm. S. Patterson, Daniel Sickles, Chas. T. McClenachen, John W. Simons, Albert P. Moriarty and Aaron L. Northrop, he instituted in New York Mecca Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, with Illustrious Walter M. Fleming at its head. A few years after, Medinah Temple of Chicago was organized, and lastly Moolah Temple of St. Louis. In June, 1876, the Imperial Grand Council of the United States was organized.



James H. Thompson of Medinah Temple.

THE IMPERIAL COUNCIL.

The regulations of this Imperial Council have established as prerequisites for membership that each candidate must be either a thirty-second degree A. A. S. Rite or a Knight Templar in good standing. The generous proposition to make the Order of Nobles an organization for the exercise of charity, the improvement of the mind an and ally of the fraternity of Freemasonry in the United States was primarily adopted by the Imperial Grand Council.

The officers of the Imperial Council, 1886-9, are: Sam Briggs, Cleveland, O., Imperial Potentate; Jos. B. Eakins, New York City, Imperial Deputy Potentate; Henry E. Hosley, Boston, Mass., Imperial Assistant Rabban; John T. Brush, Indianapolis, Ind., Imperial High Priest; James McGee, New York City, Imperial Oriental Guide; Jos. M. Levey, New York City, Imperial Treasurer; Wm. S. Paterson, New York City, Imperial Recorder; Chas. H. Flach, Cincinnati, O., Imperial First Ceremonial Master; Wm. Ryan, Louisville, Ky., Imperial Second Ceremonial Master; Clarence B. Mason, Newport, R. I., Imperial Grand Marshal; Geo. E. Pantlind, Grand Rapids, Mich., Imperial Chaplain of the Guard; Thos. J. Hudson, Pittsburg, Pa., Imperial Outer Guard.

MOOLAH TEMPLE.

Moolah Temple includes in its membership some of the best-known business men of the City of St. Louis. For the occasion of the Conclave Moolah has issued a call to her sister temples of New York and Chicago to assemble and confer the order of nobility on the many anxious candidates now awaiting it. Moolah will exemplify the ritual at this meeting, and arrangements have been made to transport all the paraphernalia, costumes and jewels belonging to the Chicago shrine to St. Louis. The officers of Medinah Temple will be assisted by the Imprelal Potentate, Sam Briggs, and other members of the Imperial Council.

Wm. Stiles of Medinah Temple.

The officers of Moolah Temple, St. Louis, are: Eli J. Crandall, Potentate; E. B. Overstreet, Chief Rabban; Jack P. Richardson, Assistant Rabban; George T. Murphy, High Priest; V. O. Saunders, Oriental Guide; Hunter Ben Jenkins, Treasurer; Wm. H. Mayo, Recorder; Jno. T. Nixon, First Ceremonial Master; B. Lynds, Second Ceremonial Master or Standard Bearer; W. H. SAM BRIGGS of Cleveland, O., is at the head of the order of nobility in this country, occupying the position of Imperial Potentate. He has been identified with the Masonic fraternity of Cleveland for over twenty years; has presided as Master of Iris Lodge, A. F. and A. M.; was several years Secretary of Webb Chapter, R. A. M., and held several offices in Oriental Commandery, K. T. In the Ancient Accepted Rite he has been actively connected with the working corps in lodge, chapter and council, and has been presiding officer of the latter body for three years. He was advanced to the grade of Inspector-General of the Thirty-third Degree in 1885. He established Alkoran Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, in Cleveland in 1876, this body being the first in the United States to confer the degree in accordance with the original translation of the Arabic ritual. He has been Illustrious Potentate of the temple since its inception.

JAMES H. THOMPSON

of Chicago is probably one of the most zealous nobles in the United States, and is wedded to Medinah Temple, in which he is now serving his second term as Illustrious Grand Potentate. Illustrious Noble Thompson was born in Cincinnati in 1841, and has been a Mason about fifteen years, receiving the degrees in Indiana, where he formerly resided. He is a Thirty-second Degree Mason and a Knight Templar, and has held prominent offices in nearly all the Masonic bodies. He was this year elected Imperial Chief Rabban of the Imperial Council, A. A. O. N. M. S.

Resolved, That the R. E. RECEIVING THE GRAND MASTER.

September 12, many individual Knights and some delegations arrived. The Grand Commander had determined to make the escort of the Most Eminent Grand Master to the place of meeting the distinctive feature of the occasion and issued his orders accordingly.

Elwood Commandery of Springfield, Ill., had volunteered to do escort duty and accordingly, under instructions of the Grand Commander of Illinois, that Commandery arrived here on the evening of the 14th and on the morning of the 15th, reported with Louis and Ivanhoe Commanderies. The Grand Master came in over the Chicago and Alton road escorted by Apollo Commandery of Chicago and Milwaukee Commandery and by a large number of individual Knights from the Northwest.

THE PARADE

was ordered for 9:30 on the morning of Tuesday, September 15. There were eleven divisions to the parade. Missouri formed one. The total Knight Templar membership in Missouri at that time was 340. The procession formed, officered as follows: Grand Commander Gouley, Deputy Grand Commander Weimer, Grand Generalissimo Aglar, and as aids, Sir J. W. Bloomfield, Sir Jeremiah Fruin and Sir Erastus Wells.

The line of march was from the Southern Hotel down Walnut street to Main, north to Washington avenue, west to Fourth street, south to Pine street, west to Seventeenth, north to Lucas place, east to Fourteenth, north to Washington avenue, east to Eleventh, south to Locust, east to Seventh and south to the entrance of Masonic Hall. There were forty-six commanderies in line. The Pennsylvania delegation, 125 in number, appeared in fatigue uniform. The rest of the knights were attired in full dress uniform. According to a daily paper of that day, "[illegible] full bands played jubilant tunes; the [illegible] went on stately and slow as the tread of grenadiers; and everywhere to be seen were smiles of welcome, recognition and [illegible] yet heartfelt applause.''

BANQUET AND EXCURSION.

In the evening the Grand Chapter of Missouri gave a banquet to the General Grand Chapter of the United States, to [illegible] also invited the representatives of [illegible] Encampment.

cursion on three boats, the Mississippi, the Lady Gay and the Belle of Alton. There was a band on board of each and a banquet spread in the cabin. The bill of fare was elaborate. The excursionists proceeded to Jefferson Barracks, where they disembarked. Three hours were spent at the Barracks. On the return trip James Carr on behalf of Excalibur Commandery of Hannibal presented Josiah Hunt, Past Eminent Commander, with a silver pitcher. Just before reaching St. Louis the Mississippi struck a sunken wreck and sprung a leak. She was grounded and the excursionists transferred to the Lady Gay.

This closed the festivities of the Conclave of 1868. They were elaborate for that time. They look poor and tame compared with the carnival that has been prepared for the Conclave of 1886.

TO-MORROW'S CEREMONY.

Programme of the Devotional Exercises at Music Hall.

ANARCHIST PARSONS' WIFE.

Mr. Parsons and His Wife Deny the Sensational Story from Waco, Tex.

CHICAGO, September 18.—Anarchist Parsons has been interviewed several times recently regarding the statement made in a dispatch from Waco, Tex., to the effect that his wife was formerly the mistress of a full-blooded negro named Gathings, whom she deserted for Parsons. This statement has been flatly denied by Parsons, who said his wife was of Spanish-Indian origin, and that she had never been in Waco. Mrs. Parsons has, until now, refused to speak on the subject. A letter which has reached here from Waco reiterates the charge made in the telegram. A picture of Gathings came with it. Armed with the letter and photograph, a reporter called upon Mrs. Parsons and went with her to the jail upon the occasion of her usual visit to her husband. She preferred that the interview should take place in his presence. To this request the reporter assented. The letter was read within hearing of them both.

"Now, Mr. Parsons, tell what you know about this matter, and let's have it settled," demanded his wife.

"I will," answered the prisoner. "Will you please let me see the picture of Gathings?" The likeness was passed in to him, and after carefully scanning it, he said: "Yes, that is Gathings; I know him. I was raised in Waco, and was in those days very popular among the colored people there. I had something to do with his wife, or the woman he lived with. Well, it was a sort of custom in that town in those days. I was wild when I was young, and had many escapades with girls. Of course, Gathings did not like what I did."

Mrs. Parsons.—Now, don't go beating about the bush. Tell the whole story as it is. I won't rest under this false imputation any longer.

Thus adjured, Parsons said that he had lived with the woman; who was known as Gathings' wife; but that he left her some time before meeting the present Mrs. Parsons in Austin. He said such affairs were very common in Texas, and that no one paid any attention to them in those days. This was positively all there was to it, and his wife knew no more of Gathings than the child unborn.

ASHER B. DURAND.

Death of the Oldest American Painter of Note—His Works.

NEW YORK, September 18.—Asher B. Durand, perhaps the oldest American painter of note, died yesterday at his home in South Orange, N. J. He was born in 1796 at Jefferson, N. J. His first noticeable work was the engraving of Trumbull's well-known picture, "The Declaration of Independence," which occupied him three years. In 1835 he abandoned the graver for the brush, having before this become a frequent contributor of portraits and landscapes in oil to the National Academy of Design exhibitions. At first he devoted himself to portraits and figure subjects, but he turned his attention to landscape painting in later years, and for this he is chiefly known. His rendering of mountain scenery, especially, was much ad-

A PROMISING PAIR.

THE STARRING EFFORT OF LOUIS JAMES AND MISS WAINWRIGHT.

Indications that Mr. James Is the Coming Man—The Work of the Stars This Week—Death of Pearl Joyce—Mr. Charles Pope's Re-Entrance on the Stage—Announcements for Next Week—Gossip About Plays and Players—Coulisse Chat.

The mantle of the dead, dying, broken down and retired tragedians has been searching around for an owner. Wiseacres and knowing ones have looked over the field and have shaken their heads declaring that there are no shoulders fit to wear it; that the glory of the stage is gone. With the death of McCullough the heroic drama was believed to be deprived of an exponent, and a host of budding stars prepared to bid for the honors while all of them were regarded with more or less doubt by the public.

I believe the shoulders for the mantle have been found broad enough and strong enough to bear it gracefully and easily.

Of all the comparatively young actors and new stars, Mr. Louis James impresses me more than any of them as the coming man of the American stage.

With a face which reminds one in its clean-cut, fine, strong outlines of John McCullough's; with a physique muscular, massive in mould, yet not over heavy or loggy, but rather active and graceful; a manly bearing which inspires admiration; a voice almost unequalled in mellow richness, compass and power, capable of filling every nook of a theater with its resonant tones; with large experience and thorough schooling he enters the field admirably equipped for the struggle. Mr. James is not in any sense a one-part or one-class man. He is fitted for the heroic and tragic drama, and is strong in comedy and character acting. He is a rounded and able actor in any position he may be placed. Few have started with the same resources at their command.

This week, on his first appearance here as a star, he has given a taste of his ability in comedy and tragedy, and in both he has scored splendid successes. There is one fine quality in Mr. James. He impresses one as possessing an immense amount of reserve force. Even if he fails to reach the highest point there is never a suggestion that it is not in him to do so, but rather that he is not fully up to himself. In his most intense passages there is an impression that his limit is not reached. This is the mark of the masterful actor. The first suggestion was strongest in Mr. James' Othello. It was in many respects an admirable effort, strong and commanding, full of force and fine points, and at times touching the upper heights of power, but it was not finished and was not what Mr. James is actually capable of, and he was hampered by his poor support in all excepting Miss Wainwright. I look in time for a splendid Othello from him under better conditions, when he can forget himself and his surroundings and throw himself into the part with unrestrained earnestness. His treatment of the part was intelligent and interesting in dress, action and arrangement.

In Benedick Mr. James was incisive and happy. He struck the cynical, jesting, bantering character, with its element of genuineness, with fine intelligence and gave it clear and telling expression.

His Virginius was a triumph in the fullest sense of the word. He filled the role in every particular until one felt that the demands of the part were satisfied. It was full of dignity, instinct with vigor, fairly vibrant with power and intensity. When the news of his daughter's degradation is brought to him, in the forum scene and in his mad scene Mr. James thrills and transfixes his audience with his superb efforts. All the pathos and the passion of the Roman father are magnificently portrayed.

The actor presents one slightly unpleasant feature which was more noticeable in Othello than in any of his parts, and that is his mouth. He draws up one side of his upper lip showing his teeth too plainly. This may possibly be a natural defect, but is likely more habit than anything else.

It is not, however, in Mr. James alone that the strength of his starring effort lies. He is ably assisted by Miss Marie Wainwright who is rich in achievement and promise. Her work this week has been full of interest, power and charm. Her Desdemona is full of the gentleness of lovely maidenhood and sorrowing womanliness with a dash of indignant strength. Her Beatrice is piquant, finely intelligent and captivating, while her Virginia is a dream of sweetness and sorrow. It ranges from naive coyness, yielding charm and trusting faith until the tragic end is reached. Miss Wainwright is possessed in large degree of those delicate womanly qualities which win an audience, and her voice is rich in flexibility and emotional capability. The sobbing tones that voice unshed tears and the facial expression of grief come so easily to her that there is a slight inclination to use her powers in this direction on too slight occasions. This is not a frequent fault, however, and may be pardoned.

Mr. and Mrs. James are young, talented and ambitious, and are capable of carving out high places for themselves. Circumstances have worked against the financial success of their engagement, but artistically it has been eminently satisfactory.

The combination will be heard from.

Announcements.

The most notable event in next week's attractions will be the re-entrance of Mr. Charles Pope to the stage after many years service as manager. Mr. Pope has chosen the heroic drama, for which his physique and past training have especially fitted him to take up again his stage career. His enterprise is regarded with deep interest by those who remember his work before he left the stage and his resolution has met with generous encouragement. In choosing this city to begin his work, he has only taken the place where a large part of his life has been spent and where his effort is looked upon with greatest interest. He will open on Monday night in "Virginius," having secured Fechter's version of the play. This will be repeated Friday night and Saturday matinee. "Othello" will be given Tuesday night, "Ingomar" Wednesday matinee, "Richelieu" Wednesday night and "Richard III." Thursday and Saturday nights. Mr. Pope's company will contain Harry Meredith, James Taylor, E. W. Sutton, E. T. Lawrence, J. E. MacGregor, Evelyn Evans, Leo Cooper, Walter Osmond, M. M. Murray, H. Meehan, Misses Virginia Payne and Constance Hamblin, Mrs. Frank Tannehill and Ella MacGregor.

OLYMPIC.

Sol Smith Russell will perpetrate a new play at this house next week, opening to-morrow night. His new play is well spoken of, and he has a new company, but neither of these are of any great importance, as everything Sol Smith perpetrates is funny and laughable. It is sufficient to know that he will be there with new songs and sketches and will engineer the thing through.

GRAND OPERA-HOUSE.

Rice's "Evangeline" with company of sixty will open at this house on to-morrow evening and will run through the week including Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday matinees. It comes from a run of 253 nights in New York and 102 nights in Chicago. The management will usher it in here with new costumes. The chorus has been considerably strengthened and the burlesque is said to be ahead of the original production in many respects.

THE PEOPLE'S.

Frank E. Aiken in his new comedy-drama, "Against the Stream," will open at the People's to-morrow night. The play is said to be full of sensational interest and in the production of it a fine fire scene is presented and eight tableaux will be given, illustrative of the story. The action is laid in New York and vicinity.

STANDARD.

Harrison and Gourlay's successful farce comedy "Skipped by the Light of the Moon" will be given at the Standard during the coming week by a selected company under the management of W. W. Fowler and Wm. Warmington. The farce is too well-known to require description.

Tony Farrell takes the part of Felix Crockle and Gus Frankie the part of Obediah Dingle. The first performance will be given to-morrow night.

THE PALACE MUSEUM.

Manager Barnes has secured a capital collection of curiosities for next week with a most entertaining stage show. Chief among the wonders is the German Rose, queen of midgets, pretty and diminutive. Then there is Herr Frank Leonzo, the human anvil; Queen Savanaia, Tinoe Ching the Chinese Princess and three children, Walter Stuart, the armless wonder, and a host of other attractions.

An Actress' Sad Death.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, September 18.—A fair-haired woman, whose slender figure was neatly clad, and whose face bore traces of beauty, engaged rooms Sunday night last at the Mount Morris Hotel, One Hundred and Thirtieth street and Third avenue. She was, apparently, about 24 or 25 years old, and wrote her name on the register "Pearl May Joyce." She told the clerk that she was an actress, and on Monday night, although very ill, she left the hotel and played the leading part in Wilson & Wrightmayer's Pavilion Theater in East One Hundred and Thirtieth street, just off Third avenue. The theater is in a big tent; and the company plays at cheap prices to audiences that pack the place nightly. She had played leading parts for weeks under the name of Pearl Hougton. Mr. Wrightmayer engaged her a week ago, when she arrived from Rochester and stopped at the Morton House. On Tuesday the pretty actress was so sick that she couldn't leave her room, and Dr. Signer, a young physician who boards at the hotel, prescribed for her. He found her suffering from peritonitis and terribly prostrated from overwork. She told the young doctor that she was 21 years old and had been on the stage six years. Until she met reverses a year ago, she played leading parts in first-class travelling companies. She had played Hazel in one of the Madison Square Theater's "Hazel Kirke" companies, and had played the heroine in "Her Atonement." She was so much worse Wednesday that Dr. Signer called Drs. Kuhn and O'Donnell. They prescribed for her and Dr. Signer paid for the medicines out of his own pocket, as the patient seemed to be in very straitened circumstances. She died on Thursday afternoon in spite of the combined efforts of three doctors to save her. Her last act was the signing of a paper in the case of the will of Daniel Tyler of Watkins' Glen. She said that he was her uncle and that she expected to inherit something under his will. After Dr. Signer had gone to the Actors' Fund headquarters and arranged to have the dead actress buried by the fund association in Cypress Hill to-day and had sent the death certificate to the Board of Health, Police Capt. Hooker sought him and asked him about the case. The captain showed an anonymous letter he had received, asserting that the actress' death was the result of malpractice, and that there was a conspiracy to get her share in the Tyler estate. The three doctors told the captain that her death was the result of natural causes. Then Capt. Hooker began a hunt for the actress' relatives. Members of Wrightmayer's company said that Joyce was the actress' real name, and that she was from Syracuse, and had married a man named Joyce there when she was 15 years old. Her husband maltreated her, and she left him and went on the stage. It was said that she had well-to-do relatives in Watkins' Glen, Syracuse and Rochester. Telegrams were sent all three places last night, and Dr. Signer sent to Surrogate M. J. Sunderlin at Watkins' Glen, N. Y., the paper in the will case that Mrs. Joyce signed on her death bed. It is hoped that the receipt of the paper with the letter telling of her death may induce her friends to come to this city. Her effects at the hotel consist of her clothing, her photograph album and a little wallet containing four big old-fashioned copper cents.

She Couldn't Stand It.

From the Boston Record.

"Poor little Marie Van Zandt!" said a young singer who knew her very well in Paris in her palmiest days. "It's dreadful to think of all that that girl has gone through, and now to think that there is no hope of her recovery from paralysis seems pitiful indeed. She worked very hard, and she deserved all the success she had. She overworked, it is true, and her whim-whams and eccentricities were half of them affected to please the Parisian palate for oddities. When the dreadful night came when she was hissed off the stage she was no more to blame for showing a little light-headedness than I should be if I should take my coffee too strong. She was ill, and she took something to keep her up, and—it failed, that's all. I have been on the stage at the Grand Opera when Kraus was absolutely too drunk to go on for her part. It sounds dreadful, but it is quite true. But Kraus could take a vicious lot of beer and not show it. Poor little Van Zandt hadn't her heavy Dutch constitution."

Daly Should Apologize.

From the Paris Revue d'Art Dramatique.

"An American theatrical troupe is to perform English pieces at the Vaudeville." This is the announcement that everybody has read for the past few days in the journals. Posters on the walls inform us that the Bureau de Location is open for the first performance of M. Daly's English piece. Well! but these pieces are not English. The American actors pretend to come from London. This is false! These gentlemen are simply endeavoring to bamboozle the Parisian public. They are at this very moment in Berlin, where they are playing in the Wallner Theater. The Parisian public comes after the Berlin public! This, at least, is something new. And the pieces that these Yankees are playing are German pieces translated into English! The "great attraction" of their Berlin performances consists in giving to the Berlinese public, in English, pieces which that public are familiar with in German. The "Love on Crutches" of M. Daly is the "Thre Ideale" of Herr Heinrich Strobitzer; "A Night Off," by M. Daly, is nothing else than "Der Raub der Sabinerinnen" of Paul von Schœntan; "Nancy & Co." is the "Hallee Dichter" of Julius Rosen. These are the American pieces which are to be served up to us.

It would be advisable, we think, to show these Americans, who, for aught we know, may be excellent actors, that they cannot treat the French public in the off-hand way they treat the public of Buffalo or Chicago.

Patti's New Dresses.

From the New York Town Topics.

I learn from Paris that Felix has just completed for Mme. Patti some beautiful dresses for home and concert wear. There are several white linen costumes, striped alternately with thick and transparent lines; the skirts are trimmed with fine kiltings and white lace; the gathered bodices have lace yokes; the sleeves are short. There is a dress entirely in Madeira embroidery; the skirt is in deep flounces, gathered all round; the wide sash, tied at the side, is pale blue surah; the V-shaped bodice has a blue silk lining. There is an evening dress in Nile green moire, with plaited panels and quilles, veiled in green tulle, with emerald spangles. The pretty bodice is trimmed with an ample fichu of this spangled tulle, fastened at the side, under a ribbon bow at the waist. An evening toilet was of embroidered pink gauze draped over a satin tablier; the back breadths were worked in full-blown roses, with their foliage. The low Louis XV. bodice had a cordon of roses arranged as an order.

"The apostle of dramatic common sense" is the way one of Wilson Barrett's admirers describes that coming star from England.

Mr. Morley of the James Wainwright company is a handsome and promising actor, who has followed the stars out of the Barrett company.

Grace Raven, a protege of Nellie McHenry, will shortly make her debut as a juvenile with James O'Neill's "Monte Cristo" company.

The scenes of the new play which Bronson Howard has written for Miss Helen Dauvray are laid in the Adirondacks, and the first act takes place on the piazza of a summer hotel in that region.

Frederick Warde has achieved a remarkable success in his new tragedy "Galba, the Gladiator." The press unanimously pronounce it his strongest part and greatest play.

The scenery of the plays which Mr. Wilson Barrett is to produce in this country has been shipped on three steamers sailing from London. Mr. Barrett's American season commences at the Star, New York, October 11.

The St. Louis Conservatory of Music has removed from 2624 Locust street to 2929 Lucas avenue. The classes in all branches will be resumed on Monday next. Mr. Thomas Moore, the director, has just returned from Europe.

Mr. Russell Sullivan, president of the Boston Papyrus Club, has dramatized the strange story of "Dr. Jeckyll and Mr. Hyde" for Mr. Richard Mansfield, who is expected to surpass his famous personation of Baron Chevrial in the wierd dual roles.

Miss Louise Montague, the erstwhile "professional beauty," is no longer the exponent of the title role in Rice's "Evangeline." Rumor says her discharge is due to her reckless stage deportment during the Chicago engagement at Hooley's.

The well-known dramatic organ, the Dramatic Times, has passed under the exclusive control of Leander Richardson. He proposes to convert it into a Sunday paper, general in character, but still keeping a close lookout on dramatic events and dramatic people.

The entrance examination for the school of opera of the National Conservatory of Music at 128 East Seventeenth street, New York, will be held on October 1 and 2. The school will open October 4. This is the school of the American Opera Company and the tuition is free.

The best and most novel advertisement given by the French press to Mr. Daly's company is the statement that young ladies can listen to the plays with impunity. This sensation was started by M. Sarcey, and the astounding fact of a theater or company being able to give three successive representations without possible offense to maidens' ears strikes the French as the wonder of the century.

The West End Opera Company gave a presentation of the "Mikado" on last Wednesday evening. The house was completely filled and "standing room" was the order long before the manager's bell disclosed the opening chorus in "attitudes queer and quaint." From opening to close the performance was one that would do credit to any professional company, and excepting a few slight delays, which are inseparable from a first night, was in every sense a complete success. The cast was well selected. The company has now in active preparation several other operas which are to be produced in a short time.

A Lot of Valuable Goods Smuggled by an Italian Cabinet-Maker.

CHICAGO, September 18.—Special Treasury Agent Crowley received information a few days ago to the effect that F. Visconti, a cabinet maker at No. 518 Wabash avenue, had in his possession a miscellaneous assortment of goods that had been smuggled into the United States from Europe. Inspector McHale, who was detailed to make an investigation, went to Visconti's shop, and, on pretense of wishing to make a purchase, found that the articles were really offered for sale. Yesterday Mr. Crowley, accompanied by Inspectors McHale and Whalen, went to 518 Wabash avenue with a warrant, and informed the cabinet-maker that they were Government officers. They prevailed on him without much difficulty to confess, and to put his confession in the form of an affidavit that various articles in his shop had been brought over from Europe by himself and wife, and that no duty had been paid upon them. Visconti is an Italian and his wife is an English woman. They came to this country in 1880, and resided in New Haven, Conn., for about five years, the husband working at his trade. His health failed, and being obliged to give up work for a time he decided to cross the Atlantic and visit his old home. He and his wife went to London, and thence to Milan, Italy, returning to America last April. Visconti says that his object in purchasing the goods was to sell them in this country at such a profit as to defray the expenses of his journey. He represented them to be household effects, and as such they were passed by the inspectors at New York. He then came to Chicago and opened his little store. The articles smuggled from Milan were three antique vases, two fancy picture-frames, an assortment of chinaware and images, six brass placques, an oil painting representing "The Visitation of the Magi" and two other scriptural paintings. There was also a portfolio of steel engravings and two oil paintings from London. The goods were seized by the Treasury agents.

TWO NOTED CROOKS BAGGED.

Henry Schultz and Charles M. Coleman Run Down in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 18.—Henry Schultz and Charles M. Coleman, celebrated Eastern cracksmen, who have been engaged on a systematic safe cracking tour from Washington Territory down to San Diego, California, their latest exploits being the robberies of the post-offices at Redwood and Los Gatos, this State, have been captured in this city. Schultz has served several terms in the penitentiary at San Quentin, Cal., and also at Albany, N. Y. At the latter place in an attempt to escape he shot two officers, and at another time set fire to the bed in his cell with intention of destroying the penitentiary. Coleman has an unenviable record in St. Louis.

EXHIBITS IN THE NAVES, GALLERIES AND MACHINERY DEPARTMENT COMPLETE.

Close of Sig. Liberati's Engagement and Opening of the Gilmore Season—An Immense Crowd Making the Rounds To-Day—Exposition Notes.

There was a large and fashionable attendance last night at Exposition Hall. The crowd sauntered through the naves until the arrival of the Flambeau Battalion, when a general rush was made for the entrances and the windows. Thousands made this combination, visiting the Exposition and witnessing the Flambeaux at the same time. After the passage of the procession they again returned to Music Hall, where the second part of the usual evening concert was rendered.

The exhibitors breathe freely. Children's week is over. During the six days over 60,000 children visited Exposition Hall. Though they were well behaved and left no fingers to lubricate the cog wheels in the machinery department, the exhibitors were no less uneasy. The sight of an army of the younger pupils, smeared and sticky with candy, bearing down on a plush and silk, or finely polished furniture display, was not a pleasant one for the exhibitor whose richest goods stand in danger. The elder pupils examined the displays with greatest interest, but the younger school children were not content without handling everything that excited their wonder.

To-night Sig. Liberati, the great cornetist, closes his engagement. The following programme has been arranged for the evening:

March—"Royal Oak" .... J. H. Taylor
Overture—"The Sham Fight" .... E. Marie
Fantasia—"The Virgin of the Lake" .... Mullencamps
Cornet solo by Liberati—"The Lost Chord". Sullivan
Fantasia from "Attila" .... Verdi
Overture—"The Minstrel" .... A. Lamotte
Potpourri—"Les cloches de Corneville" . Planquette
Cornet solo by Liberati .... —

Exposition Notes.

Gilmore next week.

Fashionable attendance last evening.

The machinery department is now complete.

Liberati spends odd times making the rounds.

Plantation scenes in the eastern gallery are very realistic.

Photograph gallery is always crowded. This display is very fine.

Fifteen thousand children attended yesterday from the public and parochial schools.

The windows and steps of Exposition building were used as reviewing stands by thousands.

The popcorn venders regret the close of children's week. They did a thriving business during the past five days.

The junction of the northern and eastern galleries is becoming one of the most attractive features of Exposition Hall.

The Exposition receipts up to date this year are in excess of what they were for the same time in either of the former Expositions.

The Richardson Drug Company will present to each lady visitor this evening a bottle of Lundborg's delightful perfume, Marechal Neil Rose.

The crowds are constantly increasing. During the week the pretty candy girls have been kept busy making sales and watching the outside trays.

Thousands will witness the washing of "that dirty boy" to-night. "Pear's Soap" will be used and beautiful butterfly souvenirs presented to the ladies.

Many of the most fashionable people in the city were doubly represented at the Exposition last evening. While they were making the rounds of the naves hundreds attended the levees held by their counterfeit presentments in the John A. Scholten photographic display.

Certainly the most interesting display made at the Exposition this year is the boot and shoe manufactory of John Meier, on the eastern side of the machinery department. A large force of men, boys and young ladies are employed making boots and shoes from the raw materials.

"The Housekeeper's Delight" is the name given "Home Comfort" Range "N" exhibited in the display of the Wrought Iron Range Company. It is certainly a beauty and makes one's mouth water to think of the delicious things that can be cooked in its double ovens.

The Bachelor appeared last evening in faultless full dress to receive the large number of society friends. He was fully rigged out when he put in an appearance. The crowds of young ladies at the hall did not at all discomfort the cool-headed Bachelor, who sat fanning himself as leisurely as if there was no one in the nave but himself. The change of costume did not, however, improve the order prevailing in the Bachelor's quarters. They were in hopeless confusion.

One of Ex-Collector Hedden's Deputies an Embezzler for a Large Amount.

NEW YORK, September 18.—A few days before Mr. Hedden vacated the Collector's chair to give place to Mr. Magone, Deputy Collector Douglas Smith, examiner of mails, and who is stationed in the Post-office, was dismissed from the Customs service. Collector Magone has since discovered irregularities in Smith's accounts, and yesterday papers were sent to United States District Attorney Stephen A. Walker charging Smith with embezzlement. Investigation so far places the deficiency near $5,000, and Collector Magone does not know how much more, if any, will be discovered when the returns from other cities are overhauled. It was Smith's duty to collect the duties on books coming through the mails from Europe. When the books were for people living in other cities a ticket with the amount of the duty was enclosed and sent on with them. The known amount was taken from duties on books delivered in this city. The Collector is waiting for out-of-town returns.

An Old Lady Drowned.

GREENWICH, Conn., September 18.—Mrs. Broderick, an old lady 93 years of age, living in Glenville, was accidentally drowned in the Byram River, last evening. The family having missed her, a party started out in search. She was found floating in the river near her home, with her head downward. It is supposed that she fell from the stone wall at the rear of the house, a distance of fifteen feet into the stream.

THEY HAVE FAITH,

WHICH FAITH IS THE RESULT OF WORK ACCOMPLISHED.

Concurrent Opinions Based Entirely on Matters of Experience—M. L. Metcalfe in Colorado.

Mr. M. L. Metcalfe has for years been connected with the Gauss Boot and Shoe Company, No. 606 Washington avenue, and lives at Webster Grove, a suburban village of St. Louis.

"For ten years," he said to the writer, "I had been troubled with catarrh. I left the city at one time and spent several months in Colorado, having been told that the climate there would benefit me. But I was worse when I returned than when I left the city. I felt weak and discouraged. There was a pain in my head, in my chest, and an occasional cough. My sleep was irregular, my appetite poor, and I had a general feeling of wretchedness."

"Well, I tried several patent remedies and snuffs, but I got no help from them," he continued. "I tried various doctors, but they did me no permanent good. Some time during last October I began treatment under Dr. McCoy. In about four months I was cured of catarrh completely."

"Since I knew that I was cured," he added, "six months have passed, and during that time not a trace of my trouble has returned. My catarrh was in such aggravated form and of such long standing that you can believe I was more than grateful to find that a permanent cure had been effected."

"Yes," said Mr. Thomas H. Reynolds, in response to a question. "It had been a matter of two years with me. During all that time I have had catarrh steadily. I have been used to working pretty regularly, and the drowsy, weary, dull feeling that the catarrh gave me was unbearable. Often dizzy spells came over me and I felt a kind of a buzzing or ringing in my ears. There was a constant headache, which made it hard for me to work, a pressure over my eyes, and hot flashes like a fever in my head. As I grew weaker, I was always catching cold. I seemed to catch cold on the slightest provocation. In fact it was only a slight cold that had caused my trouble in the beginning.

"About two months ago my hearing became so bad that I could not understand ordinary conversation at all, and I felt so badly that I had to quit work. I have only been treating with Dr. McCoy two months and I can now hear as well as any one, and I feel like myself again and am doing my regular work." Mr. Reynolds is a young man, 24 years of age, and works for the East St. Louis Gas Company. The truth of the above statement can be verified by calling on him or addressing him at East St. Louis.

SAVED HER LIFE.

A Straightforward Statement from a Grateful Woman.

"It was in 1882," said Miss Mary Ballering of 1029 Park avenue, "I caught a heavy cold which settled on my lungs. I had a very bad cough and spit up frothy mucus of a pinkish color. About this time I was frightened by having a hemorrhage. It was followed by another, and after that I had them almost every day. My health and strength failed rapidly; my heart beat irregularly and rapidly. I had given up all hopes of living much longer when, on the 1st of June, 1885, a friend induced me to take Dr. McCoy's treatment.

"Well, a year and a half has passed since then. During that time I have not had a single hemorrhage. I have gained in flesh and strength and now often walk from Pine street to my home, which is a mile and a half away. Very soon after I began Dr. McCoy's treatment, my cough ceased entirely and I could go to bed and sleep soundly at night—something I had not done for months. I feel very grateful to Dr. McCoy and I believe I owe my life to him."

LIFE OR DEATH.

A Matter Second in Importance to Nothing in the World.

When a person with a delicate constitution has a tendency to catarrh or consumption—whether this tendency is inherited or results from taking cold easily, it is noticeable that that person invariably loses flesh and loses strength, showing that the nutrition is interfered with.

In such a case the sufferer should at once be placed under influences that will restore the defective nutrition and tend to invigorate the constitution.

It is to be remembered that in every case the presence of catarrh is an evidence of predisposition to consumption, and no matter how slight the attack may be, it should be treated with the greatest care and the treatment should be continued until all traces of the catarrh have disappeared.

If the catarrh is allowed to reach the smaller tubes in the lungs—which condition is indicated by the spitting up of a yellow material—then immediate attention to the malady is demanded or serious lung trouble will result.

Catarrh is, nine times out of ten, the cause that produces consumption, and hence no one can afford to neglect a case of catarrh, however slight. It is easily cured if taken in time and treated regularly and correctly by a specialist. If left to itself it is rarely cured without a change of climate, but with each new cold it gets more and more troublesome, extending always a little deeper into the lungs, until a cure becomes difficult and sometimes impossible.

In such a climate as this the throat should be as carefully and frequently looked after as the teeth. Yes, much more carefully attended to, as troubles of the throat are more numerous than dental troubles; and, while the latter cause only annoyance and pain, consumption—the result of catarrh—kills one out of every seven human beings born on the entire globe.

I kept changing them every four days, and at the end of three weeks was entirely cured. E. S. STEVENS.

A CHILD'S SUFFERING

From Eczema. Ears and Scalp Covered with Scabs and Sores. Cured by Cuticura.

My little son, aged 8 years, has been afflicted with Eczema of the scalp, and at times a great portion of the body, ever since he was 2 years old. It began in his ears, and extended to his scalp, which became covered with scabs and sores, and from which a sticky fluid poured out, causing intense itching and distress, and leaving his hair matted and lifeless. Underneath these scabs the skin was raw, like a piece of beefsteak. Gradually the hair came out and was destroyed, until but a small patch was left at the back of the head. My friends in Peabody know how my little boy has suffered. At night he would scratch his head until his pillow was covered with blood. I used to tie his hands behind him, and in many ways tried to prevent his scratching; but it was no use, he would scratch. I took him to the hospital and to the best physicians in Peabody without success. About this time, some friends, who had been cured by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, prevailed upon me to try them. I began to use them on the 15th of January last. In seven months every particle of the disease was removed. Not a spot or scab remains on his scalp to tell the story of his suffering. His hair has returned, and is thick and strong and his scalp as sweet and clean as any child's in the world. I cannot say enough to express my gratitude for this wonderful cure by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and wish all similarly afflicted to know that my statement is true and without exaggeration.
CHARLES McKAY,
October 6, 1885. Peabody, Mass.

I have seen Mr. McKay's boy when badly affected with the Eczema. He was a pitiful sight to look at. I know that he has tried our best physicians, and did all a father could do for a suffering child, but availed nothing. I know that the statements he has made you as regards the curing of his boy by your CUTICURA REMEDIES are true in every particular.

New York Celestials Indulge in an Exciting Sparrow Main.

Spalding Will Not Play the Browns in St. Louis or Chicago.

The Struggles in the League and the Association Almost Ended—A Young Pitcher's Opinion of the Batting Strength of the Detroits, Chicagos and the Browns—Missouri Amateur Athletic Club's Fall Meeting—Harry M. Johnson and His Wonderful Record—Base Ball, Boating and Athletic News and Gossip.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

BELLEVILLE, N. J., September 18.—Chinese sparrow fighting is usually a thing of thrilling interest to the Mongolians, but at the big main fought here yesterday morning between Brooklyn and New Jersey birds there was a row among the laundrymen which may yet lead to disastrous results. The main was between fourteen sparrows, representing picked fighters on each side. It took place in a pit attached to Foo Kai's laundry on Main street, and was witnessed by over twenty Chinamen, who are known among their brethren as howling sports. They all wore greasy queues and conventional blouse, and had fire in their eyes. Among the disturbers were Charley Wak and Lung Foo from New York, who went to Belleville, so the Chinamen say, with the deliberate intention of kicking up a rumpus. A preliminary fight took place last week for the purpose of deciding where the battle should be held. Three rounds were fought, and Jersey won two of them, and as Belleville had a good pit and was out of reach of the police it was selected for the main. The choice was hotly contested by the Brooklyn Chinamen, although they were obliged to submit, and the opportunity was eagerly seized by several New York sporting men to stir up bitter feelings. The animus of wrangle dates back two months ago when Twak Ming, the smuggler, came on from San Francisco and attempted to break up a syndicate of Mott street gambling shops with a view of supplanting them by a big combination sporting place. In the dispute which followed Belleville laundrymen sided with Twak and open war was declared.

The main to-day started off smoothly enough. A little Chinaman, who assumed the name of Lou, acted as trainer for Brooklyn birds, and Foo Kai himself did the honors for Jersey's. Sam Lee put up fifty planks ($50) on the Belleville sparrow, and Charley Wak matched him. The Belleville bird fought shy for a few minutes and then made a lunge for Brooklynite and killed it by running its razor-like beak into the Brooklyn bird's brain by way of the left eye. Charley Wok paid the money but refused to bet again. While the next round was being arranged, he went among the Brooklyn Chinamen speaking in an undertone. He told them a trap had been prepared for them and that Lon, the trainer, had sold out the fights to the Jerseymen. That stopped betting promptly and Brooklyn laundrymen waxed angry and wanted to withdraw their birds. Hot words followed, and it is pretty certain that several blows were exchanged, although the Chinamen are unanimous in denying it. Trainer Lon threatened to thrash Charley Wak for assailing his honor. Five or six laundrymen became so disgusted that they left the pit in a body. After a deal of unintelligible cackling, in which the Mongolians tongue-lashed each other without mercy, a compromise was agreed on and the battle resumed. The interruption had lasted over an hour. Charley Wak still refused to bet, but Chin Lung, a Newark washerman, restored confidence by slapping down $25 on the Jersey bird. He lost his money. The reaction caused the Brooklyn men to take courage and they raised the betting up to a pretty steep notch. In the fourth tussle the birds selected were so small that they looked positively harmless. They proved to be rattling fighters and kept the Chinamen so agitated for over ten minutes that they crowed and

CACKLED LIKE IDIOTS.

The little birds pounded each other in regular Sullivan-Hearld fashion until the sawdust pit was bloodstained and littered with tiny feathers. It was a fair contest, the birds being evenly matched and plucky as tigers. After twelve minutes incessant fighting Lon asked to have the battle declared a draw, but the laundrymen would not hear of it. The birds kept up a perfect rain of blows for fifteen minutes; then there was a breathing spell for a few seconds and they sailed in again. Finally, the Jersey sparrow weakened and fell exhausted in the pit, whereupon the Brooklyn bird flew at it, picked out its eyes and killed it by a lunge through the windpipe. The fifth round started off with a boom, but it didn't last over a minute. Jersey this time was victorious and went up that sounded like a caged earthquake let loose. As soon as order was restored Foo Kai made a speech threatening to stop the ceremonies peremptorily if roysterers didn't behave themselves, but his words had little effect upon the Chinamen. Brooklyn won the last two battles, thus gaining a sweeping victory. The result caused shadow and gloom to spread over the Bellevillites and the quarrel was reopened. Foo Kai was accused of cheating and his countrymen believed that Charley Wak had bribed him and then they raised a howl against Lon in order to avert suspicion. He Mon told a POST-DISPATCH correspondent that Charley Wak and Lon exchanged blows but the rest of the Chinamen denied this statement and insisted there had been no trouble. Brooklyn Chinamen took the first train for Newark and distributed themselves among the laundries, where the main was the only subject of conversation. The Newark Chinamen, who are opposed to the Belleville laundrymen in business, sided with the Brooklynites.

He Mon said that a vast sum of money was lost on the fight all over the country, as the Jersey birds were favorites, and odds of 2 to 1 were freely bet on them. The row among the laundrymen will tend to widen the gap of ill-feeling already existing among Chinamen and before long, He Mon said, his countrymen will be as badly split up in the East as they are in San Francisco.

THE BROWNS AND CHICAGOS.

Spalding Will Not Agree to a Series Except on Neutral Ground.

It can be announced almost as a certainty that unless President Von der Ahe of the Brown Stocking Club is willing to play the champions of the National League for a stake, outside of St. Louis and the champions' city, that the much-talked-of and much-longed-for series will never take place. In speaking of the League champions it may be as well to call them the Chicagos, for that the White Stockings will win the pennant is nearly an accepted fact. In speaking of a prospective series of games between the champion clubs of the League and the Association, Manager Watkins of the Detroit Club, at present in the city, said:

"I can give it to you straight that the Detroit Club or the Chicago Club will never play Mr. Von der Ahe's nine on the same conditions Chicago played them last year. Spalding will agree to but one proposition. If Von der Ahe wants to know if the Browns are able to beat the Chicagos, let him put up $5,000 (or any sum he wants) and Spalding will do the same thing. They will then play a series of games in some city between St. Louis and Chicago and the winner will take the stake, the entire receipts and the loser nothing. If he wants to transact business on that basis I can vouch that Spalding will meet him and make the arrangements. There is one thing I want to say, though, and that is this: If the Chicagos play with the Browns they will be in ball-playing condition and not all drunk like they were last year. They will play so hard and so well that they will do the Browns up so bad that they will never be heard from again. When the Chicagos got off the train in Cincinnati last year only three of them were able to walk straight from the depot. That's the condition they were in, and then they fooled around instead of playing ball."

"Why have you such a poor opinion of the Browns?"

"I haven't got a poor opinion of them. I have a good opinion of them. But I tell you they don't play ball like the League Clubs. The League work and work hard. They don't lose confidence, and they play all the time. League ball and Association ball are two different things. Foutz and Caruthers are no better than Getzein and Baldwin, I think. And just look how Chicago demolished them! Here are the Detroits—old horses in the business. They field base hits right along. They bat like steam engines, And even with all this, what can we do with Chicago! Yes, sir, I'd give considerable to see that series and I'd sooner see it now than any other time on earth."

THE WAY THEY BAT.

The Browns, Chicagos and Detroits' Work With the Willow Compared.

"The difference in the batting strength of various clubs," remarked a young pitcher the other day, "is an interesting study, and I've had an opportunity to study a few of them. I've faced the Browns, the Chicagos and the Detroits, and a pitcher whose delivery is easily effected can judge better than anyone else the batting power of clubs when he pitches against them. I noticed that while the Chicagos batted my delivery pretty heavily the Detroits seemed to pound the life out of the ball. That is to say they hit it harder than the Chicagos and from a batting standpoint I consider them the Chicagos' superior. The Browns, it seemed to me, bat differently from either the Chicagos or the Detroits and have made as many hits off me as either of them."

"If you had your choice of a batting team which of the three would you select?"

"That's a question. The Browns hit in streaks. One day they will knock a ball all to pieces and the next day they can't hit it at all, although it is delivered in the same way. With the Chicagos and Detroits it varies. Give them the same ball and the batting results will be the same. When the Browns are in hitting streak they hit longer than the League clubs, but their uncertainty is against them. On the whole, therefore, if I had my choice, from a batting standpoint only remember, I would take the Detroits."

ALMOST ENDED.

The Great Struggles in Base Ball Drawing Rapidly to a Close.

In the American Association the Browns have, to all effects and purposes, won the pennant, and have become the champions for the year of 1887. They have a lead that the efforts of all the other clubs in the Association cannot touch, no matter how strongly they play ball. The Browns have yet to play eighteen games, and they can afford to lose all of them but three and still retain the flag. That they will lose fifteen games in succession is out of range of all possibility. The chances are greater that they will win them.

In the League the championship is almost, if not quite Chicago's, as the Detroits have given up all hope of getting there. The club by the lake is now four games ahead of the Giants of Detroit, and they are a likely set to hold them or even to increase the number. The records are annexed:

St. Louis Downed All Around.

The Maroons came so very near winning the game yesterday that they deserve as much credit as if they had really done so. Both clubs played a splendid game. The home boys cleared seven hits off Mr. Getzein and the Detroits four off Mr. Healy. Richardson led off with a home run the first inning, and Thompson scored in first also. In the seventh the score was a tie, 2 to 2, and in the eighth Rowe planted a long hit to bulletin boards, and never stopped running till he had won the game.

The Browns sustained the reputation of the city by being defeated by Baltimore at Baltimore by exactly the same score by which the Maroons died in St. Louis. Six hits were knocked out of Foutz and four out of George McGinnis. The game was a close one throughout.

Gossip of the Game.

Ladies will be admitted free to the close of the season at Union Park.

The Detroits will play at Pittsburg on October 13, 14 and 15 and Chicago will play there on October 24.

Frank Graves caught a beautiful game yesterday. His capture of White at third was excellently done.

No prettier ball playing has been seen in St. Louis this season than that of the Maroons. It is a revelation of "new" ball by the "new" Maroons.

Jack Glasscock's phenomenal stop of Dunlap's apparently safe hit to center yesterday was "meat" for the patrons of the park, who fairly love Freddy. Capt. Jack was the recipient of noththing less than an ovation.

Berger, the umpire who umpired one game at Detroit two weeks ago and then sought rest for his weary brain, has reached Grand Rapids and resumed the brush and razor. He is of opinion that Detroit cannot take the pennant this year.

Chicago's conditional agreements with Glasscock and Denny are not worth the paper they are written upon. Still Al Spalding will make a fight for these players if the Maroons go out of the League.—[Ex.] But the Maroons will not go out of the League, as it happens.

Daily is the best catcher of the Boston Club. He has caught two-thirds of the games played by the Bostons this year, and handles the delivery of Radbourne, Stemmeyer and Buffinton equally well. Daily is a hard batter also, and has driven home many a winning run.

The Maroons new stock company is on a solid basis, and the Maroons will not only continue through the present season, but they will play ball in the League for seasons to come. The patronage of the club since the new company has taken hold has been very profitable, and with or without Sunday games next season, a good deal of money will be made.

In the game played September 4 in Jersey City, N. J., between the home team and the Waterbury Club, Walker made the winning run by clever base-running in the ninth inning. He reached first on a safe hit, stole second and third and then made a most daring steal home. As soon as the pitcher delivered the ball he ran and touched the home-plate before the astonished catcher could touch him.—[Clipper.] Latham has done the same thing.

The three great first basemen of the League stand to September 11, inclusive, as follows: Anson, a. b., 412; runs, 100; b. h., 161; t. b., 239; p. o., 1014; a., 67; e., 56; batting average, .391; fielding average, .951. Brouthers, a. b., 415; runs, 117; b. h., 150; t. b., 233; p. o. 1074; a., 22; e., 38; batting average, .361; fielding average, .966. Connor, a. b., 404; runs, 88; b. h., 148; t. b., 217; p. o., 981; a., 61; e., 31; batting average, .361; fielding average, .971. Anson has played 101, Brouthers 100, and Connor 97 games.

It was Arlie Latham's luck to be seated beside a very handsome lady at the supper table at the hotel the other evening. She was apparently alone, and the "parrot," who was disguised as a dude, showed the gallantry peculiar to St. Louisans by leaning tenderly over the learned young lady from Boston, and asking: "Will you try some of the golden syrup on your cakes?" (with a smile.) "Yes, thanks," she coldly replied. "Will you"—taking up the molasses jug and gazing at the plate of the young lady of culture—"will you have it an, zig-zag, or take it in a puddle?" And then he gazed malignantly at her lifeless form as it was borne away to the hospital.

THE ATHLETES.

Harry M. Johnson and His Wonderful Record—M. A. A. C. Meet—Notes.

Harry M. Johnson, the enviable possessor of the best record in the world in a 100-yard sprint, is a powerfully built young man, a pleasant talker and a boon companion. Out of eighty-eight races he has won seventy-nine and keeps on winning as though he could never be tired out. A few of his performances, the more important ones are given below: At Philadelphia, on August 13, 1883, Johnson won in a 123-yards race, in 12 1-5 seconds, defeating 45 starters. At Niles, Mich., on September 28 of the same year, he defeated F. W. Stone in a 100-yard sprint in 9¾, and on October 18 he walked away from T. Haggity on a 150-yard course in 15 seconds. At New York, September 7, 1884, Johnson defeated W. C. Wilmer in a handicap, 100 yards, having meandered over that space in 9¾ seconds. On October 12, 1884, at New York City, he defeated Malcolm W. Ford, 100 yards, 10 seconds. At Brooklyn he covered 75 yards in 7 2-5 seconds defeating W. G. Hegman and lowering the world's best time in the same feat. At New York City on November 22, 1884, he made a trip of fifty yards in 5¼ seconds, this also constituting the best time for this distance made anywhere at any time. On April 27, 1885, Johnson accomplished 125 yards in 11 3-5 seconds, beating G. H. Smith, and on July 13 of the same year he won in a race, at Miamisburg, O., of 100 yards, in which there were no less than thirty-five entries, covering the distance in 9¾. At Canton, O., July 17, he made 125 yards in 12 seconds, and at Cincinnati two months later he downed Hammond for 300 yards in 30¼. On March 8, 1886, he won the great Sheffield handicap in which $14,000 were at stake. The race was 120 yards and there were forty-two starters. Johnson made it in 11½ seconds. At Pittsburg on July 12, he made a world record by winning the Pittsburg handicap of 130 yards in 12½, and on July 17, at Chicago, he won from Boyd the American championship for 150 yards. His latest performance was that at Cleveland on July 31, when he made 100 yards in 9 4-5 sec. Although a victor in many contests Johnson is quite young. He is only 23 years of age. He will appear at Union Park to-morrow.

H. M. Johnson, Fast sprinter.

Pendragon on Johnson.

Pendragon of the London Referee says: "After diligent search among American journals, I conclude that Johnson's 9 4-5 record will be accepted. That being so, I can only admire the greatness of the feat which has taken so long of accomplishment under acceptable conditions. No matter how affairs meteorological and otherwise chance to be, or how the race is run, they happen to just fit the performer. That is the secret of exclusive records. On paper, perhaps, the surroundings look anything but promising: in practice they are factors in phenomenal success. Now, although Johnson stands alone as a nine-and-four-fifther in public, I should not a little while ago have hesitated to back an English sprinter to beat him, and bet on a double event—the Englishman's finishing first in a match, and the winner's not cutting 10 seconds. We all know that a Sheffield handicapper is not worth quoting at all unless he can smother something inside evens. There has not been any record of 9 4-5 seconds in public, although limit men are supposed to be able to stroll over 100 yards in 10 seconds six days a week, or whenever their gaffers ask them."

Athletic Notes.

Billy Andrews is practising very hard for the high kick.

A. F. Fake, from Chicago, has sent in his entry. He will make it exciting for the boys in the 100 yards and in the high kick.

Charlie Felton is very sanguine in his expectation of wearing the watch this time. He has already had a chamois skin cover made for it.

Will Barron has sent in his entry for the high kick. Will is one of the best gymnasts at the Missouri Gymnasium, and promises to surprise his friends.

Tom Cahill can be seen at the grounds every morning and evening working like a Trojan under the careful tuition of an experienced professional sprinter.

The tug-of-war teams are practising at their respective gymnasiums. The South St. Louisans are very anxious for the Western Rowing Club to enter their team.

Under special instructions the directors will have a tambourine 1½ feet in diameter for the high kick. Mr. Fogg from Nashville, Tenn., is very anxious to break the record on high kicking.

Everybody interested in athletics will be pleased to hear that W. B. Norris is getting down to his old-time strides. His friends display some anxiety for him lest in his zeal he may again over-train himself. Should Norris be in trim on the 19th, all can witness the finest 100-yard race ever run at Union Grounds.

Taylor Lingo has them all marked. He says he only wants three this time. He is very happy since learning that Butcher from Chicago will be here. It will be remembered he ran a dead heat with Butcher in the 100 yards last October but was defeated in the run off. Taylor has firmly resolved to return past favors this time.

NEXT YEAR'S 3-YEAR-OLDS.

A Fine Lot of Youngsters to Go Over for the Season of '87.

There are a fine lot of 2-year-olds to go over to the season of 1887, remarks a well-known turfman, and among the lot is Laredo, a half-brother to Volante, and almost a counterpart of his illustrious relative. Laredo is a blocky, compactly built colt, and although his running so far has not been phenomenal, if he winters well, with the advantages of the early spring training on the Pacific slope, do not be surprised to hear of his being first under the wire for some of the spring events at Louisville, Latonia, St. Louis and Chicago. Of the other Western 2-year-olds, Jim Gore and Tom Hood gave promise early in the season of being among the greatest youngsters out, but while the latter has proved of no account Jim Gore has been unable to earn a bracket since leaving St. Louis. When Terra Cotta won the Lakeview handicap at Chicago, he was said to be a nailing good colt, and a great deal was expected of him. He was even thought by the turf scribes to be good enough to show his heels to the great Tremont. But, like many bubbles, he, too, has burst, and has not been heard of since, though he may round to for some of the late fall events. Of the 2-year-old fillies Connemara, one of Millionaire Cassett's cast-offs, is just now the top-sawyer. She is by Stratford, and although she was not worth her feed until sold to the Oakwood stables, she has developed into a game and true runner, as her defeat of Lizzie Krepps and Agnes in the Tennessee stakes at Saratoga demonstrates. She won in a canter with plenty to spare. Connemara should be a great performer in her 3-year-old form and so should Lizzie Krepps. If the latter winters well, she should be almost a world beater.

Dan Daly's Defi.

Dan Daly, the champion middleweight pugilist of the West, has given the following challenge to the POST-DISPATCH for publication:

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I am ready to meet any man in America not exceeding 145 pounds fighting weight, give or take 5 pounds, for $500 a side. I am also willing to fight George LaBlanche, Jack Fogarty or Joe Ellingsworth, six, eight or ten rounds, revised Queensberry Rules, fight to take place in St. Louis, winner to take 65, loser 35 per cent gate receipts, within six weeks.

[Signed] DAN DALY.

Rowing Ripples.

Mr. Bonfield of the Excelsior Club has entered in the single scull race.

J. D. Werder and Arthur Eveson will attend the Kansas City regatta, on Saturday next.

George W. Lee lost some preliminary practice work for the sweepstakes race, being badly troubled with boils.

The English sporting papers give Edward Hanlan credit for his three-mile record at Lake Quinsigamond, made last month.

R. Godden of Putney recently took a photographic view of all the oarsmen training there, including Gaudaur, Teemer, Ross, Lee and Hamm.

Gaudaur was much troubled with blistered hands for a short time after his arrival in England, but they soon hardened with work. He is very popular at Putney.

The St. Louis junior four is composed of Wm. Eveson, bow; Frank Kiefer, No. 2; A. Noland, No. 3; J. Edelman, stroke. The boys feel confident of winning and will row hard to do so.

All arrangements for the grand excursion and regatta to-morrow on the steamer Helena are now completed. A great time is expected. The medals, which are to be contested for, are on exhibition at Finley & Hull's clothing store, at the northwest corner of Broadway and Pine streets.

Wallace Ross has had a new boat built by Clasper, the English boatbuilder. She is 31 feet 9 inches long, 11⅝ inches beam, 6 inches deep amidships, 2 inches deep forward and 3¼ aft. She is fitted with sluice board, Clasper's counter rail and all recent improvements. Ross likes her immensely.

Mistaken Identity.

Many criminals when arrested say it is a case of mistaken identity. A sufferer from catarrh after using "Carbolic Smoke Ball" feels so much like "another man" that he is prone to doubt his own identity. You, too, will be rid of that dull, heavy pain in the head by a free test of the Smoke Ball, southeast corner Broadway and Olive. Ladies' parlor.

WHEEL WHIMS.

The Lindell Avenue Boulevard—Eastern Opinion of the Flying Start—Notes.

The Grand Marshal issues an order for a drill in another column.

A. K. Stewart returns Monday from his month's Eastern trip.

Thursday's bicycle races at Springfield were postponed on account of rain.

Chief Consul Rogers is back from Arkansas. He and Ladish walked over a good portion of the State.

Whittaker is writing back a great deal about Percy Stone being out of place among the fast men of the East. If Whit would do a little more racing and less talking his friends would like it better.

The parade of 211 cyclers before the Hartford tournament was distinguished by the presence in line of Secretary-Treasurer Aaron. The procession was under the marshalship of Chief Consul Huntington.

In the 2-mile event at Union Park to-morrow A. A. Hart, scratch, gives C. S. McDonald of St. Louis, and F. N. Ranney of Akron, O., 200 yards; K. E. Belcour, 250 yards; E. N. Sanders, 300 yards, and John M. Hodgen 350 yards. It looks very much as if Belcour were going to a picnic to-morrow. Ranney is the dark horse.

E. C. Klipstein and Harry Gordon scooped in some prizes at Montgomery City Wednesday. Klip got a silk umbrella and an "elegant" charm and Harry a mantel clock. The track was poor and the races didn't amount to much but their fancy riding caught the crowd. The wheelmen had a place in the procession in honor of the opening of the fair. Again the flying start was successfully used.

If any reasonable man can read the following from the Boston Herald and then say that the standing start does not encourage jockeying he has no understanding of language. It was only a year ago that "jockeying, jockeying" was the cry raised against the flying start, but the Herald, in speaking of the start in the promateur mile race at Hartford, said: "The start was simply ridiculous. Each man held back for the other to take the lead." Those who talk against the flying start might well ask themselves what worse can be said of it than the above about the present start.

Work has begun on the Lindell avenue boulevard, and although the improvement extends from Grand avenue to King's Highway, nearly two miles, the contract calls for completion in three months after September 3. The boulevard has a total width of 100 feet, of which 20 feet on each side will be given to sidewalks, the remainder affording a sweep of 60 feet in the clear for a carriageway. The curb will be granite, there will be a ten-foot Telford foundation, and on top a dressing of macadam, gravel and sand, affording a surface like Delmar avenue. This being done there will be no question that St. Louis will be able to entertain her visitors at the League meet next spring. The boulevard will afford a coast half the distance each way, the grade being very easy to climb.

A Beautiful Present.

Virgin salt has no equal for household purposes. It is the cleanest, purest and whitest salt ever seen or used. Remember that a large package costs only 10 cents, with the above present. A BRILLIANT SPECTACLE.

SUCCESSFUL INITIAL PARADE OF THE FLAMBEAUX AND ATHLETES.

The Streets Crowded With Sight-Seers—Gorgeous Display of Fireworks—The Line of Route—Incidents of the Event—An Unfortunate Accident—The Next Parade.

The St. Louis Flambeau Battalion last night gave its initial street parade and display. The weather was perfect in every respect, and thousands thronged the streets to witness the demonstration. The capacity of every street-car line was taxed to its utmost, and thousands were obliged to walk. No larger crowd has been on the streets since the parade of the Veiled Prophets last season. Every available window on the line of march was filled, and the crowds on the street were so dense at several points that they seriously impeded the progress of the companies.

The display was in every respect a success. Only one serious accident occurred and that accident, instead of discouraging the boys in their excellent work, should simply tend to make them more cautious and be a guarantee against future mishaps. Especial credit is due the boys of the rocket company, who, though without gauntlets and their hands exposed to the burning spray of the starting rockets, fired them with such precision and good direction. The bursting of the rocket wagon was due to interference by outside parties, and is an accident that will be guarded against in the future.

THE PARADE FORMED

on Market street from Seventh to Thirteenth in the following order: Squadron of sixteen mounted police under Sergt. Wm. Keeble, followed by the directors of the Athletic Association under the leadership of President Jay L. Torrey. Next ceme the association float with twenty-one men from the various athletic societies arranged in a pyramid and drawn by six horses. The following societies were represented in the pyramid: Excelsior Gun Club, Western Gun Club, Compton Hill Gun Club, Shamrock Football Club, Thistle Football Club, Blue Ribbon, Charter Oak, Prickly Ash and Peach Pie Base Ball Clubs, North End Rowing Club, Western Boat Club, Victoria Cricket Club and the Central, Bohemian and West St. Louis Turner societies. Following the pyramid came Grand Marshal Leo Rassieur and eight aids-de-camp. The P. A. T. Club came next with their blue and gold banner and their Tally-ho coach. There were seventy-five members in black frock coats and pearl plug hats. Each wore the badge of the club. The Peach Pie Base Ball Club came next with twenty-two members. The Charter Oak club followed with eighteen. The Shamrock Foot Ball club had eleven members in a decorated float. The Western Boat Club with six members came next. The North End Rowing Club followed with an equal number and the St. Louis Rowing Club was the last of the Athletics with twenty-two men in line. Each of the rowing clubs had floats appropriately trimmed and carrying their shells.

THE FLAMBEAU BATTALION

was preceded by the Marine Band, after which came Col. Charles E. Ware on a magnificent grey charger and surrounded by his staff. The following officers composed the staff: Mat R. Reynolds, Major; Wilson K. Kennett, Captain and Adjutant, and W. H. Mead, Captain and Chief of Ordnance; John M. Lund, Captain and Quartermaster; Thos. E. Holland, M. D., Captain and Surgeon; Otto E. Forster, M. D., Lieutenant and Assistant Surgeon; Frank M. Rumbold, Lieutenant and Assistant Surgeon; Joseph L. Hanley, Lieutenant and Commissary; Brainard Allison, Lieutenant and Aid-de-damp; S. W. Hamilton, Lieutenant and Aid-de-camp; Theo. Herrold, Lieutenant and Aid-de-camy; A. M. Cobb, Lieutenant and Aid-de-camp; Frank Lawrence, Lieutenant and Aid-de-camp; A. B. Cummings, Lieutenant and Aid-de-camp; Wilson P. Hunt, Lieutenant and Chief Trumpeter.

The companies followed in following order and number:

Drum Corps—Drum Major La Chance; The Pikes—Capt. John W. Mitchell, forty men; Flambeau and Roman Candles—Capt. Wm. Kennett, seventy men; Mortar Battery—Capt. James L. Johnson, seventy men; The Rockets—Capt. F. C. P. Fieldemann, thirty-five men; The Rifles—Capt. E. B. Spiekermann, thirty-eight men. The six buglers were scattered among the different companies of the battalion to transmit the proper commands.

As the head of the column moved down Market street, Col. Torrey wheeled his horse in front of the POST-DISPATCH building and lifted his helmet in salute. As Col. Ware and staff reached the POST-DISPATCH building, the first order to fire was given, the staff saluted, the bugles passed the order along the line and the whole column broke out in

A SHEET OF MOVING FLAME.

The explosions of the bombs, the firing of the rifle company and the flashing of Roman candles, torches and rockets made a picture grand, deafening and beyond description.

The greatest care was exercised by the rocket boys, and to doubly insure caution, Adjt. Kennet and Col. Ware dismounted and passed back through the ranks of flame, encouraging and assisting the boys, who were put to the severest test by the work.

AN UNFORTUNATE ACCIDENT.

As Company B was rounding the corner of Clark avenue and Fourth street an explosion more terrific than the others was heard and Wm. La Chance, a member of the drum corps fell to the ground. When the smoke cleared away it was found that the contents of one of the rocket-wagons had exploded and a flying rocket had passed through the thigh of young La Chance. The wounded man was taken to the Dispensary, where an examination of his hurt showed an ugly and dangerous wound. He was conveyed to his home, 3404 Thomas street, where he was visited by Col. Torrey and Drs. Holland and Forster.

After the delay caused by this accident—a few seconds only—the procession moved forward again and kept up a continual firing. Short halts were made again at Fourth and Pine, at Fourth and Locust, and another at Fifth and Washington avenue as the column came south from Franklin avenue. Opposite the Lindell Hotel the display was very brilliant, and in front of the Exposition Building the most magnificent showing of the night was made. Good work was done in front of the Custom House to the delight of the immense crowd that thronged the steps and filled the street. At the Court House where the parade passed in grand review, His Honor Mayor Francis, Councilor Bell, Judge Noonan, Dr. Lutz, Delegate Keenan, Thos. P. Culkin and others with ladies were stationed, and a splendid firing from all divisions was kept up. Just as the display was at its height one of the compartments in another rocket wagon took fire and created some consternation. No one, however, was hurt. A third fire in the ammunition wagons occurred a few minutes later. It was among the colored lights, and was quickly extinguished by the chemical engine. The evening closed without further incident.

After the parade the Flambeau boys were regaled with a well-earned lunch.

The next parade of the battalion will be given on next Wednesday evening, between which time and this several drills will be held and many changes, based on the experience of last night, will be made. The ammunition-wagons will be kept in the rear and the material carried forward by hand. The rockets, too, will be fired by men while at a standstill, thus securing greater precision of direction and less liability to accident. As it was, there were fewer accidents last night in the initial parade of the St. Louis boys than occurred in the demonstration last year of the veteran Topeka organization.

AS AN immediate resort in all sudden Bilious attacks, affording prompt and certain relief, Collins Ague Cure is unrivalled. It can be had at any drug store, 50 cents a bottle.

THE CYCLISTS' CARNIVAL.

Call Issued for a Drill—Squads Being Formed—Notes.

The following order has been issued by the Grand Marshal:

Wheelmen of St. Louis:

Members of the Missouri Bicycle Club and Ramblers' Bicycle Club, Flambeau divisions, and of the Demon and Humpty-Dumpty squads are requested to report to their respective captains at Forest Park to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock for drill.

Unattached wheelmen and others, who have not as yet been assigned places in the parade, are urged to attend this general drill, where they may on application secure places in the squads now being formed.

EDW. R. STETTINIUS, Grand Marshal.

Notes.

The Wheelmen's parade occurs October 1.

The order for the fireworks has been placed and those who witnessed the trial exhibition Wednesday night are satisfied the display will be a good one.

The following squads are being formed: Animal, Military, Indian, Cowboy, Chinaman, Mikado. Places can be secured upon application to the Grand Marshal.

All wheelmen who have not yet advised the Grand Marshal of their intention of joining the parade are urgently requested to do so at once, as all squads must positively be formed within the next week.

Attachments for carrying torches and fireworks have been secured and will be submitted at to-morrow morning's drill. This drill will not only promote regularity of movements but will also afford an opportunity for the discussion of designs and costumes, and for the securing of information on points about which any of the wheelmen may be in doubt.

LOCAL NEWS.

Margaret Illner, a girl who gave her age as 18, applied at the Soulard Street Station last night for lodging, stating that she had run away from her home at Silver Creek, Calhoun County, Ill., on account of ill treatment.

The weekly report of the Humane Society shows the following causes and cases investigated; Beating 5, driving lame 18, general cruelty 3, warned 26, prosecuted 3, convicted 2, taken from work 15, killed as unfit for use 4.

A man named Frank Reynolds passed a counterfeit $10 bill on the bar-keeper of Martin Ryan's saloon, 519 Espenschied street, Carondelet, last evening. Mr. Ryan shortly after the man's departure, however, discovered that the bill was counterfeit and the police hunted up Reynolds and lodged him in jail.
